WOMAN HOLDS UP STORE

CHELSEA FERRY CRASH

Fortress of Strumitza Taken by Allies

ROXBURY CLERK IS VICTIM

A man and woman together today carried through a daylight robbery at the store of the Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company at No. 1854A Centre street, Roxbury. Their loot was $146 in cash, and when they departed they left the manager of the store, Albert Eastwood, locked in a closet. The store is diagonally across the street from the West Roxbury police station.

The money was hidden in a flour barrel in the rear of the store. The man and woman, according to Eastman, had visited the store last Saturday and through a pretext discovered the hiding place of the money.

When the two entered the store today Eastwood was alone. They purchased some groceries; then the man asked:

"Have you any potatoes?"

Eastwood remembered the two had come to the store Saturday and had asked for some potatoes at that time. Since Saturday he had received a barrel of potatoes, which was in a rear room of the store. He started that way to get them. The woman went out to the street. The man followed Eastwood into the back room and stuck a pistol against the back of his neck.

LOCKED IN A CLOSET.

"Get into that closet," he commanded, "or I'll blow your head off."

Eastwood obeyed, and the man rolled a sugar barrel against the closet door, blocking it. Eastwood from the closet could hear him rummaging about among the barrels. He heard him find the money in the flour barrel, giving an exclamation of satisfaction, and hurry out of the store.

Eastwood kicked and battered at the door, and finally broke the glass out of the window and called to the man who keeps a store next door.

This man, Henry Brooks, was out; but his wife heard Eastwood calling: "Harry! Harry!"

She hurried into the tea store, but was unable to move the sugar barrel which blocked the closet door. She summoned help from the West Roxbury postoffice and Eastwood was released.

The woman who came into the store with the robber, was, according to Eastwood, very well dressed.

DESCRIPTION OF PAIR.

According to the description given to the police, the man was about thirty-five years old, 5 feet 10 inches tall, and weighed 170 pounds. He was dark complexioned and smooth shaven, and wore a gray suit and a soft black hat.

The woman was about thirty years old, five feet, seven inches in height and weighing about 135 pounds. She was of medium complexion and wore a stylish black, belted coat, a green skirt and a gray sweater and a small round hat.

OPEN CASE AGAINST ROAD

By L. V. B. RUCKER.
Staff Correspondent of the International News Service.

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—The defendants' motion to quash being temporarily ignored when Judge Hunt convened the United States District Court today, the conspiracy trial of William Rockefeller and ten other millionaire New Haven railway directors got under way today, and the first hour of the session saw R. L. Batts, special deputy attorney general, well launched in the government's opening speech. It promised to be an oratorial marathon, lasting a court day and a half or longer.

Mr. Batts traced the tangled lines of the New Haven's high finance, the acquiring of boat and trolley lines, and the so-called sale to John L. Billard of Boston & Maine stock, which, Mr. Batts declared, had never left the control of Charles S. Mellen. Mr. Batts further declared it would be shown that more than $200,000 was spent in New England legislatures to further the plans of the New Haven railroad.

"No doubt some of you gentlemen will go to sleep," Batts said on opening. "I cannot say I would blame you, if you do. But it is my duty to outline to you the transportation conditions in New England, which led to this indictment. I want to show you that if these gentlemen on trial committed the acts cited in the indictment you have just heard read, they knew they were doing wrong.

DEPRECATE LOSS TO PEOPLE.

"It is not the idea of this prosecution that the work of these defendants can be undone.

"There is no suggestion on the

Attempt to Shoot Wife Is Charged

WESTFIELD, Oct. 18.—Arthur King was held in $10,000 for the Grand Jury in the District Court today on a charge of attempting to murder his wife, Annie King.

King was paroled from Bridgewater fall on Saturday. According to testimony, King yesterday fired a shotgun at this wife, the charge passing over her head, and then attempted suicide by drinking lodine.

King denied that he intended to shoot his wife.

Giblin Sued on Auto Hire Claim

Representative Thomas J. Giblin of East Boston was sued today by Patrick J. Keating in Municipal Civil Court, Keating claiming Giblin owes him $35.54 for automobile hire from September, last year, to May of this year.

Hillstrom Is Sentenced to Be Shot Nov. 19

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Oct. 18.—Joseph Hillstrom, a subject of Sweden, convicted of murder and reprieved through the intervention of President Wilson, was today re-sentenced. He will be shot on November 19, according to the court order issued today.

Hillstrom was sentenced to die for the murder of J. G. Morrison at Salt Lake in 1914. He is a Socialist and Emma Goldman and others have intervened in his behalf.

W. A. F. Ekengren, Swedish Ambassador to the United States, became convinced Hillstrom was innocent or that the crime did not warrant capital punishment, and through his home government brought the matter before President Wilson.

At the request of the President a reprieve was granted to give the Board of Pardons time to consider the case more fully.

The board refused to act, issuing its decision Saturday. Hillstrom was brought into court today and again sentenced to die.

City Contracts for $11,900 Awarded

City contracts totaling $11,980.10 for new sidewalks, water pipes, pavements and sewers were authorized by Mayor Curley in seven orders signed today. Here is the list:

John Kelly Company, artificial sidewalks on Centre street, Roxbury, $3,350.50; Jere J. Sullivan, bituulithic pavement on St. William street, Dorchester, $1,877; Marino de Matteo, sidewalks on Penfield street, West Roxbury, $1,238.50; James L. Pierce & Co., catch basin in the Roxbury district, $1,583.50; pipes and sewers on Wordsworth street, East Boston, $1,287.60; Barletta Cartullo Company, laying water pipes on Massachusetts avenue, $1,715, and Maurice M. Devine, $468 for painting and cleaning the Albany street bridge.

Austria Protests Railway Seizure

By the International News Service.

ATHENS, Oct. 18.—Austria-Hungary's Minister presented at the Foreign Office on Sunday a formal protest against the occupation by the allies' troops of the railways between Saloniea and Monastir and between Saloniea and Uskub, part of which runs through Greek territory.

Winthrop Speeder Pays Double Fine

Perfecto F. Oliveros of Boston, in the East Boston Court today, paid a $10 fine for overspeeding yesterday on the Winthrop Shore Drive and paid another fine of $25 for failing to stop at the signal of a policeman.

Ten Fined on Gaming Charge.

Eleven men, arrested in a raid yesterday in Liverpool street, East Boston, were arraigned in the East Boston court today. Six paid fines of $5 each for playing cards, four paid $3 fines for being present at a game and the case against the eleventh man was filed.

Aged Man Hurt by Fall.

Benjamin Clisby, seventy-six, of Winthrop, was treated at the East Boston Relief Hospital today for a scalp wound and concussion of the brain. Clisby fell from a runway in the factory of George Lownsbro, in East Boston.

BOAT HITS SLIP, 2 HURT

The Chelsea ferryboat City of Boston crashed into its slip on the Boston side at 1 o'clock today with such force that drivers were thrown from their wagons and standing passengers fell prone. One man was injured, and two horses were hurt, one so badly that it had to be shot.

Captain McKee was in command of the ferryboat. The accident is believed to have ben the result of a misunderstanding of signals to the engine room.

The ferryboat struck the floating portion of the pier, called the "brow," with such force the foremost team of horses on the boat was thrown forward on to the "brow."

This team was owned by the Chelsea Iron & Coal Company and driven by Patrick Kilduff of Chelsea. The horses fell and as the ferryboat rebounded they were dragged clear, their forelegs dangling from the end of the ferryboat. The boat then surged back into the dock, and the forelegs of the horses were crushed. One horse was shot. The others injuries were not so serious.

Kilduff was thrown from his seat on the wagon, but escaped with minor injuries. William B. Humphreys of No. 55 Prospect street, Marblehead, driver of Brown's express wagon, was thrown from his seat and beneath the feet of his team. The wagon slid forward over his body.

He was taken to the Relief Hospital, where he was found to have suffered severe bruises and wounds about the body.

There were about twenty-five other passengers, and all were severely shaken and thrown about.

The "brow" of the ferry slip was so badly damaged that service was for a time abandoned; while the fore deck of the ferryboat was somewhat splintered.

Predicts New Idea of Death, from War

Professor Daniel Evans of the Andover Theological School, Cambridge, told the Congregational ministers of Boston today at their meeting in Pilgrim Hall that after this war, there will be a new interpretation of death. This was one of the results of teaching of the Twentieth Century Religion. "The war," he said, "will drive the average man out of the world of sense in which he has been living so long and tend to draw him toward the spiritual truths of life."

Mayor Invited to Visit the Aberdeens

Lord and Lady Aberdeen today invited Mayor Curley to visit them at his earliest convenience upon their return to Aberdeen, Scotland. Urgent invitations for the Mayor to make this visit were extended by both Lord and Lady Aberdeen before leaving this city. The Mayor said that, while appreciative of the courtesy thus extended, it was extremely unlikely that he will accept the invitation.

United Textile Delegates Unit for Suffrage

By International News Service.

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—The United Textile Workers of America, who opened a week's convention here today, went on record in favor of woman suffrage. There were no opposing voices from the 100 delegates when the resolution was put before the convention.

Miss Melinda Scott of the New York Women's Trades Union League in a speech on "Organization for Women," said that it was imperative for women workers to organize for their protection, and she advocated suffrage as the chief cure for the problems now confronting working women.

British Bombard the Belgian Coast

By the International News Service.

AMSTERDAM, Oct. 18.—British warships bombarded the Belgian coast for thirty hours on Friday and Saturday, according to reports received from the Dutch frontier today. The British fleet's fire was directed upon Ostend, Westende and Zeebrugge with good results, the reports stated, many of the German land batteries being destroyed or silenced.

During the bombardment of Zeebrugge a squadron of airships dropped bombs upon the German submarine base there, causing heavy damage.

Eight Men and Two Women Lost in Wreck

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 18.—Eight men and two women were lost when the gasoline schooner Alliance No. 2 was wrecked on Malpass rock, six miles north of Point Arena, in a dense fog early today. The body of Miss Lena Miller of Vancouver was recovered. The only member of the party of eleven that reached shore alive was Raoul Medina.

Hurled Into Air by Blast of Dynamite

DIXVILLE NOTCH, N. H., Oct. 18.—Alexander Bestad, employed by the Dixville Notch Corporation, was thrown into the air and injured in an explosion of dynamite here today. Bestau turned a double somersault before falling. The dynamite was exploded in the building of a new road.

Cassidy was found badly beaten up on Thatcher street early today. Stapleton said Cassidy insulted him in the subway when he was escorting a young woman.

BULGARIA INVADED BY FOES

By PERCY THOMAS.
Staff Correspondent of the International News Service.

LONDON, Oct. 18.—The allies' invasion of Bulgaria is now in full swing, and Strumitza, the most important fortified city in the southwestern part of the Bulgarian kingdom, has been captured, according to a despatch received today from Athens.

Strumitza lies in the Macedonian territory won by the Bulgarians in the first Balkan war. It is only ten miles from the Saloniea-Nish railway and is five miles from the Serbian frontier. The population is eight thousand normally, but at this time it has been largely increased by refugees.

The advance of the British, French and Serbian troops into Bulgaria is expected to exert strong influence upon Roumania and Greece.

So strong has become the sentiment for the allies in Athens that the downfall of the "neutrality cabinet" would not be a surprise.

ALLIES' COUNTER STROKE.

It is reported from Bucharest that hostile agitation is being directed there against the Germanophile press. German agents, by lavish use of money, were able to subsidize a considerable portion of the Roumanian press, but the influence of these newspapers is believed to be on the wane.

Interest in the political situation in the Balkans, however, is no stronger than that in big military operations under way there.

The counter stroke of the allies in the neck of Bulgarian land upon which Strumitza stands shows that a bold stroke has been made there for a two-fold purpose.

1.—To offset the Austro-German and Bulgar invasion of northern Serbia.

2.—To protect the Saloniea-Nish Railway, over which the allies must send their troops and supplies from the coast into the interior of Serbia.

Violent fighting is in progress in at least four different regions of Serbia and Bulgaria. The strong forts erected by the Bulgars on the Serbian-Greek frontier are being bombarded by the allies, who are using guns taken from the British and French warships at the Dardanelles.

KILLED FOR "SHIELDED."

Comitadjis, or Bulgarian irregulars, who played such an important part in the Balkan wars are again in action. A party of them is reported have invaded Serbia and cut the Macedonian railway. It is also reported from Saloniea that Bulgarian irregulars, whoo rossed into Serbia near Vranje, have cut the Saloniea-Nish line.

It is reported that Russian, British and French warships have shelled Varna and Dedeagatch. The entire Bulgarian coast fronting on both the Prominent naval officials in the New England shore stations and officers of the Fore River Shipbuilding Company are expected to be summoned this week to testify in the court-martial of Rear Admiral William N. Little, it was announced this afternoon.

The court-martial will begin at the Charlestown Navy Yard, two weeks from today.

It will centre the attention and interest of army and navy men of Boston, as the charges against the rear admiral have stirred up a sensation.

The rear admiral is accused of neglect of duty in approving unseaworthy submarines while inspector at the Fore River yards. It is said the trial will lead to an exposure of Navy Department methods in regard to the construction of war craft.

Wilson to Open His Campaign Nov. 4

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—President Wilson will fire the opening gun in the presidential campaign on November 4 before the Manhattan Club in New York City. It was announced at the White House today that the President had set that day for his address on national defence before the Manhattan Club on the occasion of its celebration of its fiftieth anniversary. The President's speech on this occasion also will mark the beginning of his fight for an improved national defence.

Denied Petition to Practice Law

Judge Braley in the Supreme Court today dismissed a petition of Fortunatus J. Bogorius for a mandamus writ to compel the bar examiners to certify him as a lawyer. Hollis R. Bailey, counsel for the bar examiners, opposed Bogorius' petition.

U-Boat Sinks French Steamer; Seventy Lost

MARSEILLES via Paris, Oct. 18.—According to maritime advices received here today, the French steamer Amiral Hamelin was sunk without warning by a German submarine in the Mediterranean, 70 persons on board perishing.

The submarine shelled the Amiral Hamelin when it was sighted, according to one story received here, but when a French torpedo boat hastened to the scene two torpedoes were sent into the steamers hull, sinking her at once. A number of survivors were picked up by the torpedo boats, including six men who had been wounded by the shells.

Most of the survivors declared that the attacking vessel was a German U-boat, but some expressed the belief that the submarine was an Austrian vessel.

Thirty-three survivors have been landed at Marseilles.

It is possible that the Amiral Hamelin, a steel vessel of 5,051 tons, built in 1901, was employed as a military transport by the French, shipping records giving no details of its movements since March 5, when it was at Havre.

Order Hints Greece Will Demobilize

LONDON, Oct. 18.—A despatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company from Athens states that a royal decree disbanding eight classes of Greek auxiliary forces was issued today. This is the first intimation from any source that Greece will demobilize.

NEW HAVEN METHODS BARED AT OPENING OF DIRECTORS' TRIAL

part of the government that these New England roads and car lines and steamship lines can be restored to individual ownership. That is one of the things to be deprecated by the government.

"There is not in this prosecution a deprecation of bigness, of power, except where that power and bigness is acquired for improper use. In 1899, the New Haven had something like 500 miles of track. It had no electric lines and no steamboat lines.

BIG INCREASE OF HOLDINGS.

"From 1899 to approximately August, 1914, the New Haven directors increased their holdings to about 2,000 miles. All but one important railway line in New England, that is, in Connecticut, Rhode Island, Massachusetts, Vermont, New Hampshire and Maine, have been acquired by the New Haven.

"Now pay particular attention to the use of the word 'acquire.' By that, and I do not necessarily mean purchase, they have acquired control that enabled them to dictate rates of transportation and details of operation.

"In that time, from 1899 to 1914, the New Haven has acquired every steamship line between any port in New England and New York city. Every transportation line in New England, electric and otherwise, has made some connection with the New Haven road.

"Connection with these smaller lines was established, I have an idea, in an effort to form a sort of breastwork against the approach to New York, of any rival line that might be started in New England.

"You, gentlemen of the jury, are entitled to assume that these alleged conspirators intended to do what they did. They did combine illegally. Therefore, you must assume they intended to combine illegally."

IMPROVEMENT IN ETHICS.

Batts then devoted considerable time to detailing the merger of the New Haven and the New York & New England Railway.

"The general business ethics of this country has improved greatly," said Batts, "and I doubt very much if these defendants would use the methods today that we will show they used nonchalantly in those days."

The charge, said Mr. Batts, was conspiracy to accomplish certain monopolistic results. These results were in large measure accomplished, but guilt under this charge was determined more by what was intended than by what was accomplished.

"The intent of the defendants is not to be measured alone by results, but as well by the means used in bringing about those results. In stating the evidence, as I now shall," said Mr. Batts, "certain details will be given which would not be otherwise important, to indicate that the defendants and their conspirators had a guilty conscience of the purpose and effect of their acts—for defendants are not indicted because they were directors of the New Haven but because they knowingly participated in the unlawful things done in the name of the New Haven and other corporations created by them for the purpose of concealing unlawful acts.

"In the light against the New York and New England road, in which the purpose and effect was to run down the value of the stock, so the road could be cheaply acquired, many unjust and unlawful things were done, including the acquisition of stock in the New England Terminal Company, the wrecking of the company and the consequent destruction of a freight and passenger route by Wilson Point and the Long Island Railroad to New York, including also the refusal to make joint rates including, further the routing of freight contrary to the directions of shippers.

"Among minor businesses indulged in was obtaining control of a suit instituted by one Austin Corbin, in the name of a Boston saloon keeper, but which had served the purposes of Corbin, upon a written guaranty, signed by defendant Rockefeller and others, that Corbin would be held harmless in any guaranty he had given the saloon keeper.

"When the stock value had been sufficiently run down, a controlling interest was acquired and a policy entered into which has since been used a number of times, of making a lease with the road, thereby fixing the value of the stock at such figure as was considered advisable and the getting whatever surround was thought advisable of the remaining stock.

"After 1850 was maintained an illegal contract therefore made between the New York Central and the New Haven which prevented competition anywhere in New England of either road from having their freight or passengers carried over the New York and Harlem road or having its terminals (now the Grand Central station) used for such service.

PREVENT COMPETITION.

"An agreement was entered into known as the Sound line agreement, executed by the New Haven and other roads and the Metropolitan and other steamship lines, which prevented them from effectively competing.

"An agreement, known as the 'Corsair agreement,' was made between the Boston & Maine and the New Haven by which the Boston & Maine was to have no competition in the acquisition or lease or roads north of the Boston & Albany road, and the New Haven was to be free to carry on without hindrance its monopolization of all lines to the south.

THE BILLARD DEAL.

Batts said the New Haven acquired the stock of the Boston & Maine and John L. Billard then appeared on the scene. He said that when the New Haven could no longer hold the stock of the Boston & Maine, Billard appeared in the office of Charles S. Mellen and obtained an option to buy 100,945 shares of the road. He said he had no money, nor experience, but wanted the stock. Batts said that the stock valued at 140 a share, was sold to Billard at 125.

"When the time came that stock was returned by Billard to the New Haven railway," Batts said, "that phrase is hardly accurate. The New Haven never gave up the stock, and Billard never actually owned it. The New Haven books show that Billard was paid 15c for the stock that cost him 125 by the books, and was held at only 140 before he took it over. That is, in the transaction the stock dropped 15 points on sale and jumped 25 points when it was bought back. In other words, the New Haven lost 40 points on the transaction.

"Billard, for the use of his name for a period of little more than a year, realized $2,750,000. In tracing this Billard transaction we will show that more than $200,000 was spent in the New England Legislature, and that many thousands were spent on the acquiring of newspaper property. We will show all Billard's stock was always in the control of Charles S. Mellen."

Batts then detailed several of the alleged steamship line mergers by the accused millionaire conspirators, the most glaring of which, he said, was that involving the Metropolitan Steamship Company. He said to acquire control of the stock of the Metropolitan Steamship Company, the Metropolitan Steamship Company of Maine was formed. Thereafter three banks, five separate accounts, ten deposits and nine checks were necessary before the stock changed hands. He said that to facilitate the deal, the New Haven directors, through the defendant Robbins, formed the Maine company.

GET BOAT AND TROLLEY LINES.

"To do this," Batts said, "they brought to New York, one Grover Cleveland Richards, who got his training in high finance as a plumber.

In New York, he was paid $5 a day and expenses to draw a check for $1,500,000 in favor of the Metropolitan Steamship Company of Maine. Richards, through his dummy company and through devious ways, transferred his stock to the Billard company to one Canfield, to Warren D. Chase."

Batts traced ownership of the two boats operated by the line—the Yale and Harvard—until the boats finally came under control of the New England Navigation Company, owned by the New Haven.

Batts then detailed how the New Haven acquired the Old Colony Steamboat Company, the New York and New England, the Hartford and New York, the Joy and the Neptune lines.

"About 1904" Batts continued, "the New Haven deliberately entered upon the policy of acquiring trolley lines for the purpose of controlling competition. At the present it will only be stated that certain of these acquisitions were at prices that showed a utter disregard of cost, if thereby the design of the monopoly could be accomplished. Included in these, was the payment to Senator Gilbert and associates of $21,000,000 for property which it is believed was not worth as much as one-tenth of that amount."

Mr. Batts then proceeded with a detailed statement of the growth of the New Haven control of the transportation facilities of New England.

CHARLTON TELLS DEATH STORY AT TRIAL

COMO, Italy, Oct. 18.—Porter Charlton, the American who killed his wife at Lake Como several years ago, was placed on trial for murder here today, after Baron Sclacca, the presiding judge, had overruled a motion to free the prisoner, and also had rejected a plea for further postponement.

Charlton took the stand in his own defence at 10:30 o'clock. For several days he has been on the verge of collapse and he showed extreme nervousness as his interrogation began.

The plea for further postponement was made by the defence on the ground that Signor Picardi, chief counsel for Charlton, was ill and would appreciate an opportunity to recover his health before taking up the burden that the court proceedings would entail. Baron Sclacca held that the trial should proceed.

When the proceedings got well under way Charlton recovered his nerve and showed practically no trace of agitation as the indictment charging him with murdering his wife, Mary Scott Charlton, was read.

After reading of the indictment, the usual formal questions were put to Charlton relative to his name, age, birthplace and affairs. The youthful defendant then turned to Baron Sclacca and said:

"Your honor, I would be pleased if I could tell of my relations with my wife, privately, because of the nature of the testimony I shall have to give."

The judge granted the request, saying Charlton was entitled to such consideration if he desired it.

THE INDICTMENT.

The text of the indictment follows:

"On the ninth day of June in the waters of Lake Como a trunk was extracted which was found to contain the body of a woman who was soon identified as Mary Scott, who for nearly a month had resided with her husband in a small villa at Moltrasio, the said villa being located near the lake. A superficial examination, the wounds at the head and other parts of the body, the circumstances in which it was found, engendered the belief that the woman had been murdered and afterwards thrown into the lake.

"Later a post mortem examination by the doctors, and still later the autopsy on the body, proved beyond a doubt that the wounds on the head had been the cause of death.

"This certainty was further strengthened by the confession of the accused, Porter Charlton, who has admitted that he struck the said Mary Scott on the head with a wooden hammer. Thus the facts are clear that Mary Scott was slain and that the slayer was her husband, Porter Charlton.

"The couple lived in a solitary villa, were steadily together, even during the day, and had no intercourse with outsiders except what was strictly necessary. In the villa were also found traces of the crime. Besides, the fact that the body had been locked in a trunk and in the trunk had been placed the personal effects of the woman and several letters addressed to her led to the belief that the crime could not have been committed by any other person but Porter Charlton.

ARRESTED IN NEW YORK.

"For all these reasons a search was instituted for Charlton, and finally the authorities were able to arrest him in New York in the act of leading from a steamer, and later on succeeded in obtaining his extradition.

"Furthermore, Charlton has made a complete confession of his crime on three occasions, at the time of his first his arrest in New York, before the investigating judge at Como, and in a written autobiography, which is now in the hands of the authorities and will be read in court.

"Charlton, in a long statement of the smallest incidents of his brief conjugal life, tries to depict his wife in the light of an extremely irrational woman, highly excitable, insane and jealous. He relates that on the night of June 5, returning home after a short walk, which he had been forced to take by his wife, he found her on the threshold of the home in the act of leaving. He says he asked her where she intended to go and that she replied with insults.

"Following that, and harassed by suspicion, his head began to whirl, everything turned red before his eyes and he picked up a wooden hammer, losing understanding of his actions.

"In his autobiography, however, he relates many more particulars and describes all he did, in order to destroy the traces of his heinious crime, the subsequent flight from Moltrasio, his trip to New York and his arrival there. All these details were carefully concealed from the investigating judge, to whom he repeatedly stated he remembered absolutely nothing.

"From proofs gathered in the course of the investigation we can state that Charlton married Mary Scott for love, because he deeply loved her; that previous to her marriage, Mrs. Scott, already divorced from her first husband, had led a somewhat adventurous and disordered life; that after her marriage there had occurred between her and her second husband a series of quarrels, followed by periods of calm and mutual love; that even the day of the crime had passed tranquilly.

"From this and other facts which can be better ascertained in the course of the trial, we can draw the conclusion that Charlton had come to consider his marriage as nothing else than a fetter which would have grown more unbearable daily. Hence the idea first and the determination afterward, strengthened in the evening of the crime by the pungent suspicion that his wife was going to desert him for another man, of ridding himself of the woman.

Threatens Officer When Sentenced

"Jim" Barry, a former prize fighter who was well known in Boston when he was in his prime, appeared before Judge Wentworth in the Municipal Court today with Edward Doyle, both charged with having morphine in their possession. Judge Wentworth sentenced them to serve six months in jail. When Barry was sentenced he screamed to Special Officer Irwin, who was prosecuting him. "When I get out I'll get you, if it costs me my life."

NATURE WILL CURE CONSTIPATION

All she needs is a very little help.

Constipation is caused by accumulated waste in the Colon (Large Intestine), which, under our present mode of living, Nature cannot entirely remove without a little help.

Then rank poisons in the waste set into the blood circulation, and, add to its foul depravity, blue, pillous and incomparably sick—it allowed to go on for years.

All the help that Nature asks, however, is Internal Bathing with Warm Water, applied by the J. B. L. Cascade. This, in a perfectly natural and rational way, cleans out all the waste and poisons from the Colon and keeps it as sweet, clean and pure by occasional use as Nature demands for a perfectly healthy condition.

So invariably successful has this new and improved method of Internal Bathing proved to be that over 300,000 Americans are now enthusiastically using it to cure Constipation, ward off disease, and keep them bright, vigorous and efficient.

The "J. B. L. Cascade" is now being shown by the Riker-Jaynes Drug Stores in New England. Call and let us explain how simply it accomplishes these great results.

WALKS AFTER FOUR YEARS OF HELPLESSNESS FROM ARTHRITIS

Woman's Joints Were Bent and Deformed From Rheumatism of the Joints—Now Well—Gives Credit to Var-ne-sis.

Brother a Druggist—Surprised at Recovery

Bent over, deformed and crippled with the most severe form of rheumatism, called rheumatic arthritis, in such condition that the knees were drawn up to an angle and the body stooped as shown in the photograph, was the experience of Miss Mary McColgan, who lives at 94 Main St., Woburn, Mass. She said:

Woburn, Mass.

This is the condition that I was when I consulted to take Var-ne-sis. (Signed) MARY McCOLGAN. COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS, Middlesex, ss.

Personally appeared before me, Nov. 24th, 1913, the said Mary McColgan and made oath that the above statement is true.

(Signed) D. OAGE HUNT, Notary Public.

Woburn, Mass.

This is as I am at the present time. (Signed) MARY McCOLGAN. COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS, Middlesex, ss. Woburn.

There personally appeared before me the said Mary McColgan and made oath that the above statement is true.

(Signed) D. OAGE HUNT, Notary Public.

"Yes, it is true that I am now able to go about the house without assistance, do my own work, sewing, etc., without any trouble, and I give all the credit to Var-ne-sis, after eminent specialists pronounced my case incurable. They told me there was no help for me, but wanted to operate on one knee. I have had this condition for twelve years, and for many years I was unable to walk, except with the aid of crutches, when I would drag my feet along the floor. I could not dress myself, and had to be helped from the bed to a chair. For four long, dreary years I never left my home, except to have an X-ray. Oh, it is terrible to think what I have been through. My strength failed rapidly, the stiffness in almost every joint gave me great pain and the chalky deposits in my joints looked like large bunches, in spite of treatment by the best specialists, i grew worse, but I must say it was not their fault, for they tried everything they could think of to help me.

"One day I picked up a paper and read about a wonderful cure Var-ne-sis had made, and I decided to try it. From then on I began to improve, my stiffness gradually straightened, the stiffness and pain left me, and I have given Mr. Varney my crutches to add to his large collection. These photographs show me as I was when I commenced to take Var-ne-sis and as I am today. I must say I have amazed my friends, who knew my condition when I started on Var-ne-sis. If anyone doubts the facts of my case, I would be pleased to have them write, call on me or investigate any way they see fit."

W. A. Varney of Lynn, the discoverer of Var-ne-sis, says: "It is hard for anyone to believe these remarkable statements, but any intelligent man or woman knows I would not dare to make them if they were not true in every sense. It is a serious matter for anyone to swear to a false statement, and this woman's condition has been sworn to. I want to meet the man or woman who dares to dispute the truth of my statements.

Many Boston people have talked with Miss McColgan when she met the public at my Boston office. I am continuously producing evidence that I have a preparation in Var-ne-sis that is conquering this dread disease. Var-ne-sis is the remedy that was the means of "Happy Bill" Graff, the Rheumatic Wheel Chair Globe Trotter, walking. I am presenting him in many towns in New England and expect to be in it for a present time, without a sign or symptom of rheumatism after spending six years in a wheel chair. He is in Worcester at present and will remain all next week. He is walking proof of the route he traveled in a wheel chair.

Var-ne-sis is not a cure-all. It is recommended for rheumatism in all forms and has been highly successful in the chronic cases that have resisted the ordinary rheumatic remedies.

I court the strictest investigation and only ask that all these letters have been purchased or that the testimonials are other than genuine.

Send me your name and address for the Var-ne-sis Health News, it's full of interest for rheumatics. Address W. A. Varney, Lynn, Mass.

You are invited to visit the Var-ne-sis Boston office, 140 Boylston st., where the collection of wheel chairs, crutches, canes, etc., may be seen. Consultation and advice free of charge. No goods sold here.

STATE-WIDE CAMPAIGN TO AID SUFFRAGE NOW IN FULL SWING

Massachusetts suffragists started their State-wide campaign with fresh vigor today following Saturday's big parade. A flood of offers of help came to suffrage headquarters as a result of the demonstration in Boston.

Suffrage leaders still talked over the great success of the parade, and used it as pointing out a victory for the cause two weeks from tomorrow.

Mrs. Gertrude B. Leonard, one of the most prominent of the suffragists, said:

"We are not letting up one moment. Of course, we cannot help talking about the parade and comparing notes. It seems to us notable and significant that fifteen thousand—we do not put the number at one less—men and women were willing to march through the streets of Boston as they did.

CHEERS, BUT NOT JEERS.

"But even more encouraging to us was the attitude of the crowds who watched the marchers from sidewalks, windows, telegraph poles and doorways. The contrast with what greeted us a year ago was marked and most gratifying. Last year there were many attempts at cheap humor and sarcasm; the onlookers were curious and did not seem to understand what it was all about, but Saturday that had all changed. The applause was genuine and we felt that we were among friends, even though some did not agree with us.

"The cost of the parade Saturday was much larger, but the work of getting it up, much less. This was due to the fact that each division took entire responsibility for its particular section. Suffrage headquarters had almost nothing to do with entire portions of the parade, such as the great Middlesex group, the college sections, delegations from many of the towns, etc. We simply sent an invitation and a plan showing where they were to form their line.

"Of course we cannot tell what the effect of such a demonstration will be, but already letters and telephone messages are coming in by the dozens with offers of help from men and women from whom we have not heard before."

Mrs. Olive Halliday Hasbrouck, who was chief aid in the parade, agreed with Mrs. Leonard in her impressions of the crowds and numbers in the line of march.

"I now have little doubt of the outcome of suffrage in Massachusetts," she said. "The fact that so many came, and with so little urging, would seem to me to show how things are going. It was different a year ago. As I was a marshal and had to be all along the line, I had a good opportunity to observe the crowds and to get their attitude toward various sections.

GREAT WORKING FORCE.

"We were immensely pleased with the stories and pictures the Boston AMERICAN gave us, and Mr. Hawthorn's contribution surely won us many friends."

Mrs. E. F. Coe, secretary of the Massachusetts Association, said she was especially impressed with the number of young women in the parade, and the eagerness which many showed to do something for the cause.

"We have now a great working force growing each day, which I am confident will carry us successfully over the second of November," she said.

WAIT FIRST SUFFRAGE VOTE IN NEW JERSEY; PREDICT VICTORY

TRENTON, Oct. 18.—Suffrage leaders today predicted that the amendment giving women the right to vote in New Jersey would win in tomorrow's balloting by 25,000. Anti-suffragists declared with similar confidence that the measure would be defeated by 50,000.

Political experts said they expected the constitutional change to be adopted by a narrow margin, many voters being influenced in their final decision by President Wilson's announcement that he would cast his ballot for the amendment.

President Wilson today refused the request of the Men's Suffrage League, of New Jersey, to grant all New Jersey governmental employes, working in Washington, time off tomorrow so that they could go home and vote on the suffrage question. In a telegram to C. V. Reilly, chairman of the league, at Plainfield, the President stated that it was beyond his power to grant the government employes time off to vote at a special election.

There was activity at all suffrage headquarters in the State today. Elaborate plans being mapped out to prevent fraud at the polls. Leaders of the woman suffrage forces will have a small army of watchers on duty when the polls open at 6 o'clock tomorrow morning.

Though the campaign actually closed Saturday night, a number of rallies were held by the Suffragists today and more will be held tonight. They will carry on the fight to the last moment.

WILL BEAT MACHINE.

Martin F. Devlin, Democratic leader and prosecutor of Mercer County of which Trenton is the county seat, said today he thought the Suffragists would win their battle tomorrow. He was appointed prosecutor by President Wilson when the latter was Governor of New Jersey and is one of the strongest supporters of Wilson in the country. Mr. Devlin took the stump for the suffragists a few weeks ago. He said today:

"If the same education had been given the electorate in Essex and Camden Counties, as has been the case in Mercer County, there would not be even the slightest uncertainty as to the result. The suffragist leaders have worked hard in this county and Mercer will go for suffrage by a large majority.

"The suffragists may win in Essex despite the 'machine' and 'Jim' Nugent. They may also carry Camden County regardless of machine influence and the influence of Philadelphia politicians."

Miss Lavinia Engle, central campaign manager for the New Jersey Suffrage Association, said today that there was nothing to show that the cause could not win in Mercer County.

PREDICTS GOOD MAJORITY.

"There will be a victory in the entire State," said Miss Engle, "by a good majority. While there is a chance of losing in Camden and Essex Counties, there will be a big support of the rural sections and the prospects in general look bright for the suffragists tomorrow."

Frederick W. Guichtel, Republican ex-Judge of the Mercer Court of Common Pleas, said he believed suffrage would win because the thinking people of the State want the women to have the same right as men at the polls.

INDICATIONS POINT TO SUFFRAGE LOSS, SAYS MRS. BALCH

Mrs. John Balch, chairman of the anti-suffrage booth operated on Boylston street, today expressed great satisfaction with the results of a vigorous campaign conducted Saturday while the suffragists were parading.

"We sold 200,000 red roses and buttons, and offers to help have been coming in from all kinds of people.

"I cannot see how there is any chance for a suffrage victory next month. Indications point to losses on the suffrage side. A business man told me this morning that he had thought the suffrage cause had a chance until they opened a window next his store. There was so little interest taken that he declares his grave doubts."

During the morning, Mrs. Curtis Guild, called to give in her returns from Saturday's sale of roses and buttons at the Copley-Plaza, where she was in charge.

"We shall keep hard at work," declared Mrs. Balch, "but there will be no demonstration by the anti until November 2 when you will hear from us as victors."

STRUMITZA IS STORMED BY ALLIES

Black Sea and Aegean is blockaded. There is a strong Bulgarian garrison at Dedeagatch, and new forts were built there under the direction of German army engineers. In addition to the ten thousand Bulgarian troops at Dedeagatch, Enver Pasha, the Turkish minister of war sent ten thousand Turks there to help the Bulgarians.

More British and French troops, as well as Indian soldiers, are said to be on their way to Salonika. The allies are expected to have an army of 125,000 men in the Balkans before the end of this month.

An important cabinet conference upon the Balkan situation was held today at Rome. Afterwards it was reported that Italy had taken her first step toward helping England, France and Serbia.

It is believed that a covenant binding Italy to give aid to her allies in the Balkans is being arranged.

The ambassadors of Russia, France and England in Rome have been calling daily at the Foreign Office.

A dispatch from Sofia today quotes Premier Radoslavoff of Bulgaria as saying:

"Greece will not enter the war so long as the Central Powers continue successful, but if German forces weaken she would probably attack us immediately. Roumania awaits developments and will likely join with the strongest side."

PASTORS FAVOR SHAW CAMPAIGN FOR GOVERNOR

REV. LEOPOLD A. NIES.

The ministers of Massachusetts are asking their congregations to put a moral issue before a political one, claiming that if they do this they will vote for William Shaw for Governor.

From Worcester County come encouraging reports of the manner in which many churches have pushed the name of Shaw. He is already well known to them, as his connection for years with the Christian Endeavor, has made him a familiar figure at many conventions of that organization in this State.

The Rev. Leopold A. Nies, D. D., pastor of the First Methodist Church, Worcester, formerly of the Tremont Street Methodist, this city, is canvassing that city for the election of Shaw.

"YOUNG MEN CRUSHED."

In an interview he said:

"For years in Massachusetts the young men who have been advocates of only moderately advanced measures of government, have sought recognition of the Republican party. For years such man has been ignominiously turned down and his every political aspiration crushed.

"The Stand Pat steam roller has been merciless. Friend and foe alike have fallen victims to its juggernaut wheels if they dared to stand for anything to which the machine had not given its sanction. Let Robert Luce, Joseph Walker and many others by whose election the Republican party would have greatly honored itself, witness to the fact.

"Again this year, by fair means or foul, I know not, this same reactionary element in the party has come into complete control. The Progressive split in the party has taught them nothing; they intend to yield nothing. It is true that knowing that Mr. McCall cannot be elected without the votes of the progressive Republicans, the leaders have made some very fair promises to them as a sop to hold them to the party. But no one is deceived by them.

"Everyone who knows Mr. McCall knows he will be his own Governor. He was perfectly frank to state his position on public questions before the primaries. Does anyone think he will take any different attitude on these matters if he is allowed to sit in the executive chair? Not for a moment. He will veto all progressive legislation which he has opposed on the stump, at least, and maybe more, if he gets a chance. There are a good many Republicans in Massachusetts who do not propose to give him the chance.

"On the other hand, Mr. Shaw stands openly for most of those reforms. It is a mistaken idea to think that he stands for the idea of prohibition alone. He does stand for that and also a good deal more. The so-called "No Sectarian Appropriation Amendment" will not be vetoed by him, if the Legislature passes it. To this and to Prohibition Mr. McCall has declared himself opposed.

BERLIN REPORTS FURTHER GAINS IN SERBIA

By International News Service.

BERLIN, Oct. 18.—Important progress by both German and Bulgarian armies invading Serbia was reported by the German General Staff today. It announced that the Serbians were beginning to retreat in the Maova district in northwestern Serbia, that German troops were pressing forward on the plateau south of Belgrade and had taken two villages southeast of Posharevetz, and that the Bulgarians, after occupying heights on the frontier, were pushing forward via Egri Palanka, northwest of Uskub.

The official report of operations in the Balkan theatre of war follows:

"In the Macva district the enemy is beginning to retreat. We are advancing on the plateau south of Belgrade against Cvetkogrob and the village of Vrela. Southeast of Posharevatz we captured Misiljenovac and Bozevac.

"Bulgarian troops have occupied the heights of Muslinperein and Balinbunb and are pushing forward via Egri Palanka."

The General Staff also reported Teuton successes in the eastern and western war theatres. Field Marshal von Hindenburg, continuing his offensive, captured 280 men and two officers, south of Riga, took Russian positions on a front of three kilometers (1.86 miles) west of Illuxt, and made prisoners two officers and 172 men at Smorgonje.

On the western front, French attacks at Tahure in Champagne and English attacks at Vermelles resulted in failure. In the former engagement, the Germans took ninety-three prisoners.

"A German aerial squadron dropped eighty bombs upon Belfort, the mighty French fortress in Eastern France, causing fires to break out.

That part of the report dealing with operations in the western theatre follow:

"A trench work northeast of Vermelles projecting far into the enemy's position was repeatedly attacked by the British, but all the attacks failed. Attempts of the French to retake Tahure were repulsed. An attempt by the enemy to advance with the object of recapturing lost positions south of Lientry, were unsuccessful. We captured three commissioned officers, seventeen non-commissioned officers and seventy-three chasseurs. At Schratzmannele, the enemy was unable to capture a single foot of lost ground.

GERMANS AGAIN ACTIVE NORTH OF VERDUN

By CHARLES F. BERTELLI, Special Correspondent of the International News Service.

PARIS, Oct. 18.—Three attacks made by the Germans during the night on French positions northeast of Souches, were repulsed by artillery and rifle fire, the War Office announced today.

The official communique also reported activity for the first time in several months north of Verdun. The Germans met with a repulse in this region also. The text of the communique follows:

"During the night we completely repulsed by our curtains of artillery fire and by our rifle fire three new attacks of the enemy against the Bois en Hanche, to the northeast of Souchez.

"To the south of the Somme an almost continuous conflict is being carried on with engines of trench warfare in the sector of Lihons, while our batteries are directing an effective fire against the German works.

"To the north of Verdun the Germans attempted to occupy the cavities made by mines recently exploded between the lines. They are everywhere repulsed. During the night there was very sharp infantry fire from trench to trench in the environs of Nomeny. Our artillery in the same region dispersed enemy working parties to the east of Eply, near Gremecy, and Bioncourt and bombarded the station of Blamont."

Take 95 Men in Raid on German Trawlers

Father Who Lost Son Protests Air Raid Verdict

By International News Service.

LONDON, Oct. 18.—A coroner's jury today returned a verdict that twenty-three victims of bombs, dropped by Zeppelin airships in Wednesday night's attack, "were killed in an air raid."

There was a dramatic scene when the father of one of the victims protested against the verdict, crying out:

"My son was murdered by the orders of the Kaiser. Every man in this room knows why that kind of verdict was returned, but I protest against it. I summon the German Emperor to meet me before the judgment seat of God and answer there for the death of my boy and those other poor souls, who were killed."

Testimony showed that fifteen bombs fell in the London area within three minutes. The coroner in pronouncing judgment declared that no purpose would be served in indulging in recriminations against the Germans. Testimony showed that many persons had narrow escapes and the wonder was that more were not killed.

BARTLETT SEES DARDANELLES FAILURE

LONDON, Oct. 18.—The war correspondent, Ashmead Bartlett, who has just returned from the Dardanelles, in an interview in the Sunday Times says:

"The fighting has been of the most desperate character and the results are highly unfavorable to us. We have committed every conceivable blunder in our methods of attempting to carry out the expedition.

"I hear a great deal of talk about our loss of prestige in the Near East if we fail to carry the enterprise to a successful conclusion. Personally I take the opposite view. Even if our expedition stops today our prestige will not suffer, because of the splendid courage and endurance of our soldiers. The time has come for us seriously to reconsider our position."

Austrian Countess Arrested as Spy

By International News Service.

FLORENCE, Italy, Oct. 18.—Countess Maria Valnerikch, an Austrian subject, was arrested today, charged with espionage. The police claim that the countess while at Venice signalled to Austrian warships of the movements of the Italian fleet.

Russian Minister to Bulgaria Is Ill

By International News Service.

BERLIN, Oct. 18.—A Sofia dispatch to the Tageblatt states that M. Savinsky, Russian Minister to Bulgaria, who is ill with typhoid fever, at the Bulgarian capital, has suffered a relapse. Premier Radoslavoff sent a personal messenger to express his hopes that the Minister would recover. The Bulgarian government has granted the Bulgarian sanitary mission in Russia permission to continue its work.

GOOD NEWS FOR THE DEAF

If you are losing your hearing—if you are troubled with buzzing and ringing in the ears—if you find that your nostrils are clogged—if you hawk and spit in the morning—if you have given up hopes of finding relief, just go to Riker-Jaynes, or any other drug store, and purchase one ounce of Fluid Enserol. Mix this with one pint of warm water. Put two drops in the affected ear every night. Put one tablespoonful in a fourth of a glass of warm water and gargle throat and snuff up nose night and morning. Keep this up for a few weeks and test your hearing and you will be pleased to note the improvement. You will also, no doubt, discover that your catarrh has disappeared and head noises gone.

THE JUDGES

Three Judges Will Decide Winners

A Committee of Judges, widely known for their reputation and ability, will decide which titles are most fitting and appropriate after full examination of all submitted. Judgment and skill only will be decisive.

Title Lists are Free.

THE RULES : : Read Carefully, Then Save for Future Reference

1. The Boston American presents a Movie Picture Title Contest, which is a test of education, thought, skill and judgment.

2. The cash awards, 29 in number, will be to the value of $1,000.

3. Any resident of New England may compete except the employes of the Boston American, their relatives and families, and the members of the committee of judges and their immediate families.

4. It costs nothing to enter the contest.

5. Each day, for 28 consecutive days, a picture will be printed in the Daily and Sunday American. Contestants must supply each picture with a title, using the title of a movie picture that shall be most fitting and appropriate, describing it most completely, or fitting it most perfectly. The one supplying the greatest number of such "most fitting and appropriate" titles shall earn the first award; the one supplying the next greatest number shall earn the next award, etc.

6. The winners will be decided by a committee of three judges, who will be well-known persons of recognized ability and character in the community, and who will consider each title on its merits.

7. No contestant may submit more than five titles to each picture.

8. No titles will be adjudged as "most appropriate" until after the close of the contest. The "most fitting and appropriate" titles will be determined by the judges from among all the titles submitted by all contestants and only after all such titles submitted have been carefully examined. When the judges agree on a title regarded by them as the "most fitting and appropriate," their adjudication will be no considered on all contestants' lists. For example, if there were six different titles submitted for Picture No. 1, the judges will examine these six titles and decide which one submitted is "most fitting and appropriate" to Picture No. 1. If two or more titles submitted are equally "most fitting and appropriate" to any picture and superior to all others submitted, each of such equally fitting titles will be approved and credited as "most fitting and appropriate." In case of ties, the one who submits the least total number of titles, including those "most fitting and appropriate" and others, will earn the appropriate award. If there should still be a tie, the award shall be determined by the judges' decision of the superiority of the titles, taking into consideration originality, skill, judgment, as shown by the best understanding of the essential elements of the picture as typified by the title of the movie picture.

9. No person can win more than one award, and not more than one award will be awarded in any one family or household, or to persons residing at the same address, excepting non-relatives living at hotels, apartments or lodging houses. Fictitious names or addresses are not permitted, and their use will debar contestants. Collusion will bar contestants.

10. There will be no book of titles to buy. An official list of movie picture titles will appear, the first list appearing with the first published picture, and then, each week, in the Sunday American, during the contest. This list will be the standard for contestants to use in selecting the titles for the pictures appearing during that week beginning with each Sunday official list publication, and all titles selected for that week's pictures must be among those in and selected from this list. It is not necessary to buy the Boston American to obtain this official list, as it may be secured free upon application to the Contest Editor.

11. Titles may be sent in on a coupon which will be printed in the American, Daily and Sunday, or a copy of it. Each title must be attached to a picture or a copy of it. A picture (or a copy of it) must accompany each title submitted.

12. Contestants must NOT send in their titles before the contest ends. Titles sent in before the last picture printed will not be considered. Keep them from day to day and at the end of the contest arrange them in numerical order and send them in ALL TOGETHER AT ONE TIME.

13. All titles must be directed to the Boston American Contest Headquarters at No. 5 Winthrop Square, Boston, Mass., within the specified time limit, which will be announced later. The Boston American cannot be responsible for matter sent by mail and urges contestants who use the mail to send their packets by first class registered mail. The Boston American will refuse titles on which postal charges are not prepaid.

14. As the awards will depend on the conscientious decision of the committee of judges, who will be prominent persons of the highest character, using their best judgment as they would if deciding on the best story or poem in a literary contest, their decision will be final.

15. Entering the contest is an acceptance of all rules now or hereafter to be made by the Boston American or the committee of judges, and the decision of either on any point shall be absolutely final.

Why Not Have a Clear Complexion?

It is impossible to have a clear, smooth skin when the kidneys are clogged or are weak and overworked. Expel the waste and poisonous matter by taking two teaspoonfuls of rhasnalis in half a glass of water before breakfast each morning. You will be surprised to see how quickly sallow skin and blotchy complexion disappears. From any druggist you can get rhasnalis, which acts on the liver, bowels and kidneys.—Advertisement.

Danish Princess Pays Auto Damage

LONDON, Oct. 18.—Princess Margaret of Denmark, niece of Queen Mother Alexandra, has been sued at Harrogate for smashing a taxicab and injuring the driver. The Princess, who is a nurse in the military hospital at Harrogate, was learning to drive the automobile and apparently lost control. She was ordered to pay £94 (£470) and costs.

CHICAGO GREETS CHILDREN'S TRAIN

By International News Service.

CHICAGO, Oct. 18.—Three pretty California girls and their chaperones arrived in Chicago today, on their way East to present to President Wilson an invitation signed by 250,000 California school children asking him to visit the two California expositions.

When the Overland Limited rumbled into the Chicago & Northwestern station a delegation of the Chicago-California Society, headed by W. W. Durham, its president, and Mrs. Durham were on hand to greet the messengers.

First to jump down the steps of the train was Miss Altha McOuen, aged eleven, and very much excited over the prospect of meeting the President of the United States face to face. She represents the grammar school children of California and she said this:

"I'm awfully glad I was never kept in after school to write my name as many times are there are names on that petition."

Then, more dignified in manner and bearing their responsibilities with a little more reserve than the lively Miss McOuen, came Miss Dorothy Starr and Miss Esther Bull, representing the private schools and the Girls' High School of San Francisco. And then came Mrs. Caillard Stoney, chaperone.

The visitors had pounds of candy with them. A porter was loaded with all the beribboned packages he could carry from the train.

The small party and the California Society delegation made their way out of the station into Canal street, where they posed for the newspaper photographers and answered the questions that a flock of reporters shot at them. The invitation bearers left on a Pennsylvania train for Washington at 10:15 o'clock and will arrive in Washington tomorrow.

Tech Student Dead from Auto Injuries

WORCESTER, Oct. 18.—Paul W. Burgess, the Worcester Tech student who was seriously hurt Saturday when the automobile he was riding overturned and pinned him and several others underneath it, died today at City Hospital. Dr. John W. Cahill, a Worcester physician who was in the auto with young Burgess and was thought to have escaped with light injuries, was today in a serious condition. The doctors fear he has a fractured skull.

MISS GARMONG STUDIES LAW TO DIRECT OWN SUIT

Elizabeth Leona Garmong and her daughter. Miss Garmong has come to study in Boston in order the better to push her "heart balm" suit against John Brooks Henderson.

All Saturday and Sunday night the cannon flamed, the German fire being answered by the Belgian and French guns.

Miss Elizabeth L. Garmong, who was awarded the record-breaking breach of promise verdict of $116,000 verdict in her suit against John Brooks Henderson, has come to Boston and begun the study of law so that she may devote her life to winning her now famous case.

The Supreme Court of Maine has just set aside the award given her by a jury and has ordered a retrial of the case.

The man against whom Miss Garmong won the first round of her battle is John Brooks Henderson, son of a former Speaker of the National House of Representatives. Now he has won the second round, in that the verdict has been ordered set aside.

Henderson inherited millions from his father. It was testified on the stand at the trial of the breach of promise case in Bangor, that five years ago Henderson told Miss Garmong that his love for her had vanished and that "he was through with her for good."

There is a little baby girl—Mary—for whose future Miss Garmong is fighting.

Miss Garmong first attended Drake University at Des Moines, Iowa; then went to John Hopkins University at Baltimore, where she took up the study of medicine with the intention of becoming a medical missionary.

"After I got the verdict of $116,000," Miss Garmong said, "I was offered unlimited credit in Bangor. I could have had everything I wanted without paying a cent. However, I was honest and I wanted to be sure of my money first."

She is now doing housework to support herself while she studies law.

"It was just a matter of find work or starve," she said. "Baby was down in Bangor at the home of my lawyer, so that all I had to do was to support myself. I saw an advertisement in the paper, so I applied and got the place.

"But I have been busy. I am studying law and plan to direct my own case. I am fighting for baby now, and I know I will win. I hardly know how I can go through that terrible ordeal again, but I shall do it somehow. This time we are better prepared and will have some surprises to offer in the way of testimony. I am not so sure that we may not ask for a change of venue and have the trial take place in Massachusetts."

Col. Goodier Faces a Court-Martial

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—The court-martial of Lieutenant Colonel Lewis E. Goodier, judge-advocate general of the Western Department of the Army, on charge of conspiracy against another officer, began in San Francisco today. It is alleged that Colonel Goodier meddled in the affairs of Captain Arthur S. Cowan, in charge of the army aviation school at San Diego, Cal., and sought to prejudice several of Captain Cowan's junior officers against him.

Buffalo Firm of Brokers Suspend

BUFFALO, N. Y., Oct. 18.—Paul Lambert & Co., brokers, with headquarters in Elliott square and having branches in about fifty other cities in the United States and Canada suspended business this morning. James O. Moore, attorney for the firm, said an assignment had been made to H. B. Butterfield of this city. The liabilities are estimated at about $400,000.

MELBA OVATION AT BOSTON CONCERT

Melba's voice and Melba's personality won their way anew into the hearts of a vast audience in Symphony Hall yesterday afternoon. To a generous program she added liberally in the matter of encores, and even after additional responses beyond the final listed number the people refused to leave the hall, but instead crowded to the front of the house at the feet of the diva and were not satisfied until she had rendered with much feeling her famous "Goodbye" song by Tosti.

So gracious and unaffected was she that those near the stage felt that they were present, not at a public gathering, but instead at an afternoon "at home" of the singer. At one point of her responses she even was so thoughtful as to give her overworked pianist a rest, and herself stepped gracefully to the piano stool and played her own accompaniment. Her mannerisms as the plaudits grew into a veritable ovation charmed the people fully as much as her voice rejoiced them.

BRIGHT AND SHINY.

The machines advertised in the "Used Car" columns of the Boston AMERICAN look just like new, and they will give perfect satisfaction. Look over these bargains now.

The President Sings, Too, His Daughter Says

CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 18.—Miss Margaret Wilson, daughter of President Wilson, declared today that the President sings. She said that he had a tenor voice.

"It is really of fine quality," she said, "but he has not sung professionally excepting in a male quartet when he was in college."

Miss Wilson, who is to give a recital tomorrow, stated that she inherited her love of music from her father, and that her sole ambition in life has been to sing well.

"My earliest recollection is that music appealed to me intensely," she said. "When we were frightfully poor my parents engaged a cultured German governess for us children. We couldn't afford a piano, but she sat at an old organ and sang German lieder to us by the hour. I often think of it when I am singing. I wish I could create such absolute atmosphere for every song as she did as I looked and listened, amazed and delighted."

Seek to Part Crown Prince and His Wife

By the International News Service.

PARIS, Oct. 18.—Persistent efforts are being made by Grand Duchess Anatasie of Mecklenbourg-Schwerin, mother-in-law of the Crown Prince of Germany, to get her daughter away from her husband.

The Grand Duchess was quoted today as saying she would not give up the struggle to free her daughter from her marriage bonds.

The Grand Duchess has been living at the French Riviera, coming to France from Germany by way of Switzerland. The Crown Princess was invited to visit her mother, but the Crown Prince, suspecting that his wife would not return, refused to allow her to take her children. As a result the Crown Princess remained in Germany.

Petrograd May Go Under Martial Law

By International News Service.

COPENHAGEN, Oct. 18.—Following the declaration of martial law at Moscow, it was reported today in advices from Petrograd that similar action may be taken in other Russian industrial centres where labor troubles exist. Many arrests are made in Petrograd, Kiev and Moscow where anti-government agitators have been taking advantage of the disturbed conditions to further their propaganda.

It is feared the meeting of the Douma on November 8, may prove the signal for revolutionary troubles in Petrograd.

MAY MAKE GLYNN U. S. ENVOY TO CARRANZA

By International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—Secretary Lansing and the Latin-American conferees at a conference to be held late today will determine their final plans for the recognition of the Carranza government in Mexico. The decision of the United States and others of the conferees not now diplomatically represented in the Mexican capital will be conveyed in notes to Eliseo Arredondo, Carranza's confidential agent here. Governments already having envoys in Mexico will instruct them to present their credentials to Carranza in person.

With the recognition of Carranza formally accomplished the next step on the part of the United States will be the selection of an ambassador to represent this government in Mexico. Already a half-dozen names have been brought forward in this connection, among them former Governor Glynn of New York; former Governor Folk of Missouri, now counsellor of the Interstate Commerce Commission, and Paul Fuller, one of President Wilson's personal representatives to Mexico. It is a foregone conclusion that Mr. Arredondo will be continued in Washington as the first ambassador under the new regime.

State Department reports continue to reflect the efforts of the Carranza leaders to restore order and to put down the Villa-Zapata movement.

Already promises of amnesty have been extended to many of the leaders of the conventional government, and the early collapse of Villa and Zapata is freely predicted. Soon an embargo on arms and war supplies from the United States to the enemies of the government now accorded recognition will be laid and then Carranza will have rather a free hand in dealing with opposition in the north.

Harvard to Change Entrance "Exams"

A change in the method of conducting Harvard entrance examinations will go into effect next June, when all written examinations for admission will be conducted by the College Entrance Examination Board during the week of June 19-24. Examinations for admission by the old plan, a system of units for each test, will be those used as substitutes for the Harvard papers. Nearly 1,000 candidates took the Freshman entrance examination under the old conditions this year, only two-thirds of whom were successful.

Clark Opens His Campaign Tonight

Nelson B. Clark, Progressive candidate for Governor, will begin his active campaigning tonight with a rally at the Central Congregational Church in Newton. Mr. Clark will speak in favor of a constitutional amendment to prevent the appropriation of public funds for privately controlled institutions. Norman Marshal and Raymond P. Robbins of Newton will speak for the Progressive cause.

Why Drag Through Life Wearing Worthless Trusses?

90% of the Suffering and Trouble Ruptured People Go Through Is Caused By Spring and Leg-Strap Trusses

Aren't you sick and tired of wearing trusses you can't make-hold, which you can't feel safe in, or which hurt, so they scarcely give you a minute's peace?

Don't you know that such contraptions will sooner or later let your rupture get the best of you?

Don't you know they are almost sure to cripple you up, so you won't be able to keep at work, won't be able to make a living?

Aren't you afraid they'll gradually let you get so bad that sooner or later you'll have to face a dangerous operation?

Aren't you willing to make a sixty-day-test—without having to risk a cent—and see for yourself what a relief it is to get rid of such misery-causing makeshifts?

No More Belts, Leg-Straps or Springs

We have found a way to hold any man's rupture without harmful pressure, without any belts or spring around your waist, without having to wear leg-straps.

The new guaranteed rupture holder.

It is an big an improvement over elastic and spring trusses and so-called "appliances" as the modern locomotive is over the first steam engine ever built.

60 Days' Trial to Prove It

We have so much faith in it—have seen what it has done for so many others—that we are willing to make one especially for your case and send it to you for sixty days' trial. Willing to give you plenty of time to see for yourself just how good it is.

If it doesn't keep your rupture from coming out or from bothering you in any way, then you can send it back and it won't cost you a single penny.

It is the only thing we know of for rupture that we dare make such an advance trial to make sure, because the only thing good enough to stand a long and thorough test.

All About It in Free Book

Don't send any money. Just write for our free book—cloth bound—separate articles, 32 pages—and find out everything you want to know. It is full of facts never before put in print.

It shows just why operation is nearly always a gamble with death and why those who manage to live through it often have to keep on wearing a truss.

It exposes the fakes and humbuggeries you on guard against being fooled and against throwing money away.

And it tells all about our guaranteed rupture holder in plain words. Shows how simple it is. Why it needs no hard, steel straps. How it instantly but automatically protects you against every strain, so your rupture can't be forced out. How it provides the only way ever discovered for overcoming the weakness which is the real cause of rupture. How it has brought complete cure in thousands of cases that seemed almost hopeless. How it is water-proof and will hold in the bath. How you can get it on 60 days' trial and how little it costs if you keep it.

What Happened to Jane

Jane Suspects That Reeves Is Trying to Use Her Father in His Plan to Marry Her

By Virginia Terhune Van de Water

CHAPTER XI.

(Copyright, 1915, Star Company)

THE fear that had possessed Jane Hardy's mind on the night on which she had overheard her parents' conversation about herself returned at intervals for some days.

But youth is hopeful and can throw aside unhappy suspicions as maturity can not. And Jane was naturally happy and light-hearted, and she determined not to go halfway to meet trouble. So she persuaded herself that she might have been mistaken in her interpretation of her father's words.

She told herself this more forcibly when Ezra Hardy came home one evening and announced that he had a bit of good news for his wife and daughter.

"What is it, pa?" Mrs. Hardy asked curiously.

Ezra turned to Jane before replying: "It concerns you, little girl," he informed her. "You're going to be teacher in the Milton school this coming Fall."

"Thank Heaven!" ejaculated Mrs. Hardy, before Jane could find words with which to reply.

"Thank Heaven if you like," Ezra rejoined, "but thank Gus Reeves, too. He fixed it up for us. Aren't you glad, Jane?"

"Indeed, yes," the girl said, trying to look pleased. She was relieved at knowing that her desire to remain in Milton near her parents was to be gratified, but the knowledge that she owed this boon to Augustus Reeves put a drop of bitterness into a cup that would otherwise have been overflowing with happiness.

"Well, try to remember after this what a good friend we have in Gus," Ezra admonished. "I met him just now down at the postoffice. He told me he had a little something to say to me, and as soon as we got outside he told me that none of us need to worry, for he'd got you the place you wanted all right. Of course I thanked him."

"Of course," echoed the mother. "Well, I must say he's been real kind. I guess he must like you quite a bit, Jane, to go to so much trouble for you."

JANE TAKES A SEDATE VIEW OF THE MATTER

"I don't fancy it's been so much trouble," the girl responded dryly. "There was a vacancy, and somebody had to fill it—so it was not so very kind of him to mention me. If he had not done it somebody else might."

"There you're wrong!" her father corrected. "For Gus told me there was several other candidates, but none of them got in, as he has most influence of any person on the Board. I thought you'd be real pleased, Jane," he added reproachfully.

"I am, father," she replied. "I did not mean to intimate that I am not. Only—I wish some other person than Mr. Reeves had proposed me."

"You're unreasonable!" her father growled, "but there's no accountin' for girls' fancies."

"I am sorry to have disappointed you, father," Jane said, her voice softening as she saw her mother's anxious look. "I am thankful that I am to be in Milton for another year. I dreaded leaving home and you and mother."

"Then we're all happy now," Mrs. Hardy declared, her peace-loving soul soothed by the girl's gentle tone.

Later, in her own room, Jane reflected that when it was so easy to please one's mother it was the duty of a child to do so. Why had she, the daughter of such a good woman, so little self-control that she allowed her own dislike of Augustus Reeves to mar the pleasure her parents felt in seeing the fulfillment of their hopes?

If the appointment to the Milton School had not been secured, how unhappy and depressed the entire household would have been! Well, she must try not to be prejudiced against a well-meaning man like Mr. Reeves—even if he was a bore. He had certainly been kind to her and hers. It was good to see how much less worried her father appeared this evening than he had been of late. Could it all be because of her appointment to the village school? Had he cared as much as that? The girl knew that her presence in the home meant much to her mother—but had her father been so anxious as his present relief would seem to indicate?

HER FATHER TALKS ABOUT VERY PROSAIC MATTERS

The thought recurred to her frequently during the supper, over which the trio lingered longer than usual. Ezra talked hopefully and happily of the farm and of the matters that interested him most.

"I'll get a new cow in the Fall," he said after a while, "and have the old harness and buggy fixed over."

"That'll be nice," Mrs. Hardy said.

She did not ask where the money was coming from with which to do these things. Doubtless she knew, the girl mused. What could have changed the financial outlook of the family so quickly except a promise of a loan—unless possibly her father had, after all, sold to Mr. Deems the plot of land which he had mentioned in his talk with her mother? She felt suddenly that she must know.

"Father," she ventured, trying to speak lightly, "has somebody bought some land of you? You sound as if you had struck some fortunate deal."

Her father colored uncomfortably.

"Why, no," he replied, "I've not sold any land yet—though I may sometime soon. But it looks now as if I might make a good arrangement about some money within the next few months, if all goes well."

Why should Jane suspect her father? Why should she fancy that Augustus Reeves had promised to let him have in the Fall the money he needed, and that the reason the farmer was not lending it at once was because he wanted to wait and see how she (Jane) was going to treat him and his attentions. Of course he had not told her father this, but was this Mr. Reeves's scheme and reason for deferring the loan for a few months yet?

She started to her feet with a gasp. "I can't breathe!" she exclaimed, going across the room and flinging the window wide open. "The air in this room is stifling."

Old Flames

(PHYLLIS JOHN)

By NELL BRINKLEY

Copyright, 1915, by International News Service.

THE man blew a ring into the shadows and, smiling at it, swept it into nothing with a flirt of his hand.

"My next love I met, without an introduction, in the middle of the street! She came down a gravel-walk, carrying a great, black-faced cat in a bundle against her chest. He had run away—I could see that. Her yellow hair swung like two little banners—pennants—from under her round fur hat. Her eyes were gray, like two bright lakes. Her mouth was a patrician little affair, deeply curved, glossy and tricksy. Her little cloth coat stretched tight across her round little body, so that the buttons in front clung gallantly onto the buttonholes with all their might.

"'Have you a little girl?' she asked, when her little tan shoes lagged close to my great ones. A pair of grey eyes searched mine, and below the gray ones the golden ones from a black face gazed, too.

"And I, out of college, in the swim of the world current, at the serious business of 'digging' myself into a niche in the world, shook my head.

"'If you haven't I will be your little girl. And if you haven't a boy I will be your boy, too. My name is Phyllis John. After my mother and my father. So I can be Johnny, too!'

"I accepted my new flame on the spot. How can I tell you the dreams, the play-times, the walks, the confidences, that went to make up my love affair with Phyllis Johnny? Can I show you the stuff that a young man's love for a tiny little maid is made of? All the best I had I gave her. There was never anything like it—nothing so delicate, so tender, so gigantic, so merry in life—until my own tiny girl came to me years after, and Phyllis Johnny was a story that I told to her.

"Phyllis John held my young man's heart in her two snowy little hands, knew my dreams, and breathed the smoke of battle along with me. Phyllis John tided me over a rip-tide where I whirled in the current, fighting and poor, lonesome, where I hungered for feminine sympathy, and yet needed all the strength of my heart and the entirety of my brain to succeed!

"I could afford to go about with a girl like Phyllis John. Popcorn and the circus thrilled her—and we saw all these wonders together while this, my child-flame, lasted.

"Phyllis John's black-satin cat with the golden eyes has gone long since to join his shadowy Egyptian fathers—and Phyllis John is a slim, pretty woman, with the same bands of bannery hair. Phyllis John's husband is somewhere at the front, and she is not far behind the ring line, driving a motor ambulance, I think.

"Over Phyllis John's gallant breast is buttoned the earth-colored uniform of her husband's country—and, thinking of that, I see her small black kitten draped across her childish shape. I wonder if HE knows how sweet a little maid she was!

Many long years ago that was—and see how the snow's fallen on my hair since then!

Their Married Life

Helen Meets the "Poor Stenographer" Clothed in Fine Clothes and Looking Very Fashionable.

Copyright, 1915, by International News Service.

"WARREN, Mrs. Bell is coming up for lunch today. Do you think you can get home early?"

"What for? You don't want me to entertain her, do you?"

"No, dear; but Mr. Bell is coming over for her later, and I do want you to meet him. I am sure you would like each other."

Warren was out in the hall getting into his light overcoat, and Helen came out from the dining-room and stood a moment before he left.

"I can look for you, then?" she said.

"I am expecting a busy day, but I'll do my best."

Helen kissed him, smiling, and went out into the kitchen to speak to Mary about lunch. Mary was doing beautifully, and Helen was beginning to have more confidence in her and to feel when she left the house as though she needn't worry until she returned.

"Mary, I'll attend to this and you hurry off with Winifred," she said as she took the silver from Mary's hands. Mary hurried into her room and reappeared a few moments later with her hat and coat. Winifred in her little corduroy outfit looked so happy that Helen kissed her rapturous little face smilingly. The novelty of school had not worn off.

Helen finished the work leisurely and then went into her room to get ready for her guest. Mrs. Bell was a new friend of Helen's. They had met one afternoon at Frances Knowles' studio and had taken to each other immediately. Mrs. Bell was the wife of a magazine editor. She was young and very charming and lived in a bungalow. Helen liked her very much, and although her husband awed her just a little, still she wanted him to be friendly with Warren. They would be such charming people to know.

It had started to rain when Mary returned, and later when Mrs. Bell dressed in, youthful and busy in a raincoat and a tiny little toque set on side curls, Helen had the living-room all arranged. There were roses in a tall glass vase, and although the shades were drawn up to the top, two of the little electric lamps were lighted. The room looked homelike, and Helen felt justly proud of it.

MRS. BELL IS PLEASED

"Don't you look homey in here," said Mrs. Bell as she slipped out of her coat and fluffed her fingers through her hair. It was the first time she had visited Helen, and she went into ecstacies over the antique pieces in the room.

"Is that cabinet real?" she questioned curiously. "Well, I declare it is. What a perfectly beautiful piece!"

Helen had to tell her about the time she tried to polish it herself and the mess she made of it, and in the midst of the conversation Mary announced lunch.

Mr. Bell came early, and shortly afterward Warren arrived. Helen had never known him to be nicer.

"I'm glad you came early, dear," Mrs. Bell remarked after the introductions had been made. "I want to browse around in some of the antique shops before we go home."

"Why don't you go with us, Curtis?" questioned Mr. Bell. "I'll actually need some one to fortify me if we end up in one of those places. I speak from experience."

"Warren is quite a connoisseur," said Helen proudly. "He helped to pick out nearly all of these pieces."

"I want a four-poster bed," said Mrs. Bell. "I have an idea of furnishing a little room after the manner of long ago, with candlesticks and a rag carpet."

"That is a good idea," approved Warren, who thoroughly liked Mrs. Bell. As he had said to Helen before, she had something to her. "Some of your friends are of the consistency of a soap bubble," he had remarked scathingly.

Helen, conscious that Warren was thoroughly entertained, went into her bedroom for her hat and coat. Mrs. Bell followed her and in a few minutes they started out laughingly, bound for an antique shop that Warren had patronized many times.

They looked at many things, and Mrs. Bell bought a blue jug. There was nothing remarkably reasonable in the way of beds, so they finally decided to wait until another time and repaired to a hotel for tea. The place was crowded, and as they threaded their way among the tables Helen saw a very striking girl, who sat alone at one of the tables, bow to Warren. She had blond hair and a perfect face, the kind one generally expects in a wax doll. But she was undeniably beautiful. She sat within view of the table they selected, and she watched. Helen saw a man come up and join her.

HELEN SEES THE GIRL

"Who is the girl?" asked Helen, leaning across the table. "Isn't she beautiful?"

"Yes, she certainly is," assented Mrs. Bell, "but she doesn't look as if she knew very much."

"They don't have to when they are as pretty as that," said Mr. Bell.

"You don't really think that, do you," said Helen.

"Of course he does, my dear," rippled Mrs. Bell in her clear, high voice.

"All men do, only some are not as frank as my husband. I prefer them frank, don't you?"

They all laughed, and in the general conversation Helen had no opportunity to ask Warren again who the girl was. She watched her as the men ordered tea and French pastry. The girl wore a suit of green fine cloth, made elaborately. A white fox scarf was worn with the costume and white shoes, over a little white satin hat with black aigrettes. She was not exactly animated, and the man who was with her did not seem particularly entertained, but nevertheless he looked at her hungrily.

"Looks as if he could eat her, doesn't he," commented Mrs. Bell in a low voice.

"Doesn't he, though," agreed Helen, and then the tea came and they all proceeded to enjoy it thoroughly. Helen and Warren walked over to the station afterward and it wasn't until they were seated in the car nearing home that Helen had another opportunity to ask who the girl was.

"Who was that girl in green, anyway, dear?" she questioned as unconcernedly as possible.

Warren looked up from his paper absently.

"What girl?"

"The one at the tea table."

"Oh, you mean Miss Evans. Why, she is the girl I told you of the other day. Wonder that was with her?"

"She didn't look like a poor stenographer with shoes full of holes," commented Helen dryly.

"Well, she's been working two weeks since then. I wish I hadn't eaten all that sweet stuff—I won't have a appetite for dinner."

Did Warren want to change the subject or was it unconsciousness on his part?

(Another instalment of this series will appear on this page soon.)

Lucid Instructions

The directions that a motorist received on Long Island when he asked a small boy the way to Oyster Bay were very informing. The boy looked thoughtful, and then replied, "Go straight up there, and you'll pass where the watermelon field was three years ago; then go on straight, and you'll pass where the corn was two years ago. Turn to your left, and then turn to your right a little later, and then turn to your right again, and you'll pass the place where a man was killed by an automobile last year. If you go along about a mile you'll come to where Mr. Jones lived before he moved over to Fort Washington, then turn to your left and you'll see Oyster Bay!"

In our Wonderful World

TWIN sons of Dutch farmers have to labor as long and as hard as any hired man. No wonder, then, that to be married and to have a farm of his own is the twin's sole comfort, but "the chief end of man." Social gatherings among the rustic folks are infrequent. The chief opportunity for courting is in the church. It is interesting to watch the lads at service. The seats are so arranged that everyone can look not only at the preacher, but also at everyone else, except, of course, those who are directly behind.

So the young man settles comfortably into the family pew and lets his eyes run freely over the flock until they rest on one attractive lamb. It is not long before the girl becomes aware of his glances, and if they please her a gentle flirtation begins then and there.

Reasonably sure of a favorable reception from the girl, the young man drives over to call on her. The most usual time is Saturday evening. When he reaches her home she may still be scrubbing in the milk house, and he must somehow occupy the time with the father. At length she enters the room, and his embarrassment is extreme. But a pleasant smile brings back his courage, and almost in a whisper he requests to see her for a moment by herself. The request is readily granted. The two pass into an adjoining room, and moments may be lengthened into minutes, half an hour, or even an hour or two. It all depends.

If he has won his case, father and mother on both sides are called in. If they agree, the two become engaged and plan to marry within three or four years. Visits henceforth occur regularly every fourteenth day, until the last year, when they become more frequent.

* * *

Why the horse chestnut is so called is a debatable point, but at least one possible explanation of the name may be found in a peculiar characteristic of the tree. If, when it is mature, a leaf be broken off cleanly at the point where its stem joins the branch, it will be discovered that the base of the stem is the exact shape of a horse's hoof, and if the looker-over has will see plainly marked upon the "hoof" the nail marks of the horse's shoe. The similitude of hoof and nails is at least remarkable. It might be supposed, in reference to the name of this tree, that horses were fond of the fruit, but one believes that this is not the case; nor does any other creature, except perhaps the rat or mouse, attempt to eat this natural and abundant product.

In troubles like Eczema, Scaly Skin, Eruptions, Chafings, Sores, Pimples, Rashes and Piles, Cadum Ointment gives gratifying relief.

It stops the itching; it forms a tight covering over the sore places on the skin, thus excluding air and water, and it sets up the healing process. In many instances you can see and feel a distinct improvement in less than 24 hours. Get a 50c. box of your druggist and try it. Large box 25c.

Stories from Here and There

A Hopeless Case

The art of prevarication, vulgarly known as lying, is, when once well cultivated, a most difficult accomplishment to drop.

It was so that a young fellow who was pushed into a business to keep him out of mischief, had found it.

His employer had also found it out, and he was severely admonishing him as to the evils that resulted from such wickednesses as lying.

"It is very bad," he was concluding. "You are always lying."

"Sir," said the young man indignantly, "I would have you know that I am a gentleman!"

"For my soul, I never knew such a chap! There you go again!"

Plain Speaking

Possessed of very fine instincts, Mr. Right was much offended by an experience in a restaurant the other day.

Sitting opposite him was a man who ate his food in a vulgar way that offended the higher sensibilities of Right.

"Pray pardon me," he interposed, "May I be so bold as to offer a suggestion?"

"If you like," rudely answered the other, as he continued to maul a chicken bone.

"I should imagine," was the caustic rejoinder of Right, "that you would have considerably less trouble with that bone if you took it out on the mat!"

BAD BREATH

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets Get at the Cause and Remove It

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, act gently on the bowels and positively do the work. People afflicted with bad breath find quick relief through Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The pleasant, sugar-coated tablets are taken for bad breath by all who know them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act gently but firmly on the bowels and liver, stimulating them to natural action, clearing the blood and gently purifying the entire system.

They do that which dangerous calomel does without any of the bad after-effects.

All the benefits of nasty, sickening, griping cathartics are derived from Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets without griping pain or disagreeable effects of any kind.

Dr. W. M. Edwards discovered the formula after seventeen years of practice among patients afflicted with bowel and liver complaint with the attendant bad breath.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are purely a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color.

Take one or two every night for a week and note the effect. 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

Resinol Soap clears bad complexions

If you want a clear, fresh, glowing complexion, use Resinol Soap at least once a day. Work a warm, creamy lather of it well into the pores, then rinse the face with plenty of cold water.

It does not take many days of such regular care with Resinol Soap to show a marked improvement, because the Resinol medication soothes and refreshes the skin, while the pure soap, free of alkali, is cleansing it.

When the skin is in a very neglected condition, with pimples, blackheads, redness or roughness, spread on last a little Resinol Ointment for ten or fifteen minutes before using Resinol Soap.

Resinol Soap is not artificially colored, its rich brown being entirely due to the Resinol medication it contains. Twenty-five cents at all druggists and dealers in toilet goods. For a trial size cake, write to Dept. 6-P, Resinol, Baltimore, Md.

DRAPER SEARCH EXTENDS TO NEW YORK

The pawnshops of New York are being searched by detectives for the $10,000 worth of jewels stolen from the home of Mrs. J. Sumner Draper at Milton a week ago tonight. A search of the South and West End pawnbrokers' establishments in Boston revealed no traces of the missing property.

It was learned today that neighbors of the Drapers, as well as many of the other families in Milton, who have large estates, have added extra watchmen for night work, fearing that the thieves may again visit the district.

The robbery was undoubtedly the work of professional second-story men. The porch, which was sealed, is not more than twelve feet from the ground. It would be an easy task for a man to climb the posts and make entrance through the bedroom windows.

Impressions of footprints on the lawn beneath this piazza and finger and thumb prints on the bedroom window are in the hands of detectives.

Mrs. Draper said today:

"It has taught us a lesson. We have always kept our shades lifted at night. Anyone passing could easily watch every movement. Most of the houses in this district are the same. The doors are often left unlatched and the shades are usually up.

"I feel positive that no former employe has anything to do with the robbery. The work was done by men who have undoubtedly watched the house and our movements for some time."

Big Guns Boom in War Game at Fisher's Island

By International News Service.

FISHER'S ISLAND, N. Y., Oct. 18.—The booming of the big guns in Forts Wright, Michie and Terry, at the Sound entrance, in an almost incessant cannonade during the night and early this morning, was the only shore evidence of the big "war game" battle which has been raging off here for the past three days and which ended at 7 o'clock this morning, when a fleet of destroyers, assisted by six mine planters, tried to run the gauntlet of the forts and land an attacking force on Fisher's, Great Gull and Plum Islands.

The final attempt was made this morning, the destroyers, theoretically, representing a fleet of battleships.

About 2,500 coast defence artillerymen were stationed in the forts, some being brought from New Bedford, Mass., Newport, R. I., and other places.

The manoeuvres were pronounced a success. No decision was given.

Fire Damage in Wet Wash Laundry

Ten men fled for their lives and the weekly washings of hundreds of East Boston housewives were destroyed today in a fire which wrecked a wet wash laundry in the rear of No. 24 New street, East Boston, causing a damage estimated at $6,000.

The building, a two-story structure, is owned by the Boston Cold Storage Warehouse Company, and the laundry by Louis J. McIntyre.

The fire is thought to have started from an overheated furnace. It was discovered at 9:30, just as McIntyre and his nine employes were putting to soak hundreds of washings collected during the night.

LEWISTON PLANS RECEPTION TO CARRIGAN

LEWISTON, Me., Oct. 18.—"Bill" Carrigan of the Red Sox will be given a great reception here Friday night. He learned this when with "Heinie" Wagner he arrived at his home today.

Carrigan's return was a week earlier than had been expected, so no one was at the station to meet him, but in a few minutes an impromptu reception was in progress.

Carrigan and Wagner broke away for Carrigan's home; and after a few hours there, left for Carrigan's new camp, on Lake Annabessacook, which was bought with part of Carrigan's World's Series money.

They promised, however, that they would return Friday, for the reception. There will be a torchlight parade, red fire, automobiles and a band, all under the direction of "Sniff Ced" Curran, Lewiston's foremost fan.

There will be a bodyguard of honor for Carrigan, composed of 200 Lewiston Royal Rooters who went to Boston for "Carrigan Day."

The parade will be followed by a reception and jollification at City Hall; but Carrigan in accepting the invitation made one positive condition.

"I won't make a speech" he announced.

HUNT ESCAPED ZOO STORK IN THE BLUE HILLS

The stork which escaped from its Winter quarters at the Overlook, Franklin Park, on Saturday morning, is still at large. The bird, which stands about five feet high, is believed to be in the woods of the Blue Hills, and a number of citizens and the officers of the Metropolitan police are on the lookout for it.

On Saturday evening the stork was cornered in one of the trees of the Weld estate, Brookline, where it was left for the night. When Curator Anthony McNealy of the Zoo and half a dozen Park Department employes returned to the Brookline place, intent on "netting" the stork when it descended, the bird soared into the air and flew away in the direction of Hyde Park and the Blue Hills.

A number of park men searched the Blue Hills, but to no avail. Curator McNealy hopes the stork will be found and returned before a frost comes up, for being a warm weather bird it will suffer extremely.

This stork, pet of the City Zoo, which escaped from Winter quarters at Overlook, Franklin Park, Saturday morning, was last seen flying in the direction of Hyde Park and the Blue Hills, and it is there an anxious search is being prosecuted.

MISS DAHLGREN SAYS OTHERS ARE WORSE

Miss Katherine D. Dahlgren of Lenox, whose license to drive an automobile has been suspended as a result of her plans for a road race in the Berkshires with George E. Turnure, Jr., said today that there are many others still driving cars who are worse offenders than she.

The news of the suspension of Miss Dahlgren's license was told exclusively in Sunday's AMERICAN.

"Of course, I have been fined two or three times," Miss Dahlgren admitted. "I have been fined for speeding, but if the records are searched I believe you will find scores of others who have been fined for speeding more times than I have, and who are still driving cars."

Late in August Miss Dahlgren accepted a challenge to race her car against Turnure on a motorcycle. Concerning this she said at the time:

"I simply couldn't take a dare from Mr. Turnure, particularly as I have driven my little yellow roadster at better than sixty miles an hour many times. If it is safe for a man to run a motorcycle at a faster clip than that, a girl ought to be able to go him one better with a powerful engine and four wheels.

"Mamma doesn't want me to take any risks, but mamma doesn't know that it is perfectly safe to drive a car fast when you know the roads perfectly.

"All the village constables for miles around are watching us to prevent the race, but it will be over before they get through shining up their badges."

In spite of this defiance, Miss Dahlgren found it so difficult to elude the authorities that she at length applied for a permit for the race over the Pittsfield-Lenox State road.

Miss Cavell Shot Through Head by German Officer

By International News Service.

AMSTERDAM, Oct. 18 (Special to the London Daily Mail).—Such details of the execution of Miss Edith Cavell at Brussels as it has been possible to collect here, show that the only charges against her were aiding Belgians to escape to England. It is stated she hid them in her house and provided them with money and addresses in England, and helped to smuggle them across the frontier.

The German military court found her guilty and sentenced her to death by shooting. The execution ground was a garden in Brussels, surrounded by a wall.

The firing squad, made up of an officer and six men, was drawn up in the garden and awaited their victim. She was led in by soldiers from the house nearby, blindfolded with a black scarf.

The execution has shocked the whole Belgium community, who declare it is the bloodiest act of the whole war.

The woman, though deathly white, stepped bravely to meet her fate, but, arriving before the rifle squad, her strength gave out. She tottered and fell to the ground thirty yards or more from the spot against the wall where she was to have been shot. The officer walked to where she lay prone and motionless, drew a revolver, took steady aim and shot the woman through the head.

The officer then ordered the soldiers to carry the body to the house, where it was taken in charge by a Belgian woman, acting under instructions of the Spanish minister, who had undertaken responsibility for the remains pending the arrangements for burial.

WALSH RETURNS "NO EXPENSE" IN PRIMARY

Governor Walsh "contributed, expended or promised" nothing to anyone in connection with his candidacy for the Democratic nomination. His statement was filed with the Secretary of State today, as were the statements of other candidates.

Grafton D. Cushing of Boston, defeated by Samuel W. McCall for the Republican nomination for Governor, spent $2,235.87. Of this amount $500 was paid to the Republican State Committee and $250 for post cards and stamped envelopes. The balance was in small amounts for railroad fares, hotel bills and similar expenses.

Calvin Coolidge of Northampton spent $1,223.50 as candidate for the Republican nomination for Lieutenant-Governor. Of this amount, $425 was paid for stamps and mailing, $663 for printing and $135 to Mary M. Qualey, stenographer.

James P. Timilty, candidate for nomination for the Senate, spent $216.95.

Panama-Pacific Exposition Brought to Boston—in Miniature

Exhibition EXTRAORDINARY In our 5th Floor Auditorium Daily 10 A. M. to 4 P. M.

A $10,000 Reproduction A Cycloramic View of the Entire Exposition Grounds Wonderful Electric Effects

IN MINIATURE, BUT IN DETAIL, are shown the buildings and grounds of the Panama-Pacific Fair, with San Francisco Bay, the Golden Gate, Mt. Tamalpais, etc., in the background. On the sparkling waters of the Bay ride many battleships, ferry boats and other sea craft.

During the explanatory talk of the lecturer in attendance, visitors will behold an impressive transition from brilliant sunlight, through a gorgeous sunset to silvery moonlight—as between 2 o'clock in the afternoon and 9 o'clock in the evening at the fair. Lights appear on the battleships at anchor in the harbor, also on the ferry boats and the buildings.

The Tower of Jewels is revealed in all its splendor under a powerful searchlight. The South Gardens are beautifully illuminated by the multi-colored rays of a giant searchlight. A lighthouse on Alcatraz Island springs into life and sends its warning beams out across the shining waters. ADMISSION FREE

Alexander Hamilton—"Father of American Credit"

DANIEL WEBSTER says of Hamilton: "He smote the rock of National resources and abundant streams of revenue gushed forth, he touched the dead corpse of public credit and it sprung upon its feet." No man did more to build the Constitution of the United States than did Hamilton. He took a prominent part in every debate, and worked indefatigably on all the important committees. His genius, individuality and daring foresight are indelibly stamped upon every clause of our National Law—the law under which Americans are guaranteed for all time Religious, Commercial and Personal Liberty. During Hamilton's lifetime he used his great influence to encourage and protect the brewing industry. Among all the Fathers of the Republic none knew better than he that honestly-brewed barley-malt beers make for true temperance. This American Colossus, who was second only to Washington in the service rendered to his country, d[illegible]k good beer all his days. We know of no one who has yet dared declare that it injured him in any way. Unde[illegible] of the Constitution, which Hamilton did so much to make a fact. Anheuser-Busch 58 years ago launch[illegible] institution. During these years they have honestly brewed honest beers. To-day 7500 people are daily requir[illegible]ne public demand. Their world-famed brand BUDWEISER because of its quality, purity, mildness and exquisite flavor, exceeds the sale of any other beer by millions of bottles.

MOTORMAN TELLS THE TRUE STORY

H. L. Galer, of No. 11 Green Street, Everett, Says Plant Juice Put Him on His Feet.

The health of a man or woman is so absolutely dependent upon the condition of the stomach that great care should be taken to see that it performs its proper functions. As age advances the stomach muscles become weak and inactive and the liver does not supply the juices that are necessary to prompt digestion. Some people are helped by eating pre-digested foods and taking plenty of exercise, but this, in time, becomes irksome. The main requisites of good health are good digestion, pure blood, steady nerves and sound, restful sleep. Plant Juice, the new herbal system tonic, insures all these and much more. It puts the stomach in shape to properly digest the food; tones up and invigorates the whole system and fills you with new life and energy, eradicates malaria, poisoning, stimulates the sluggish liver into action, corrects constipation and regulates the bowels. In fact, assists nature where assistance is needed.

The following signed statement from Mr. H. L. Galer, who resides at No. 11 Green Street, Everett, will be of interest. Mr. Galer is a well known man, having been in the employ of the Boston Street Railway Company as motorman for the past 21 years. He says:

"For about 4 years I have suffered with stomach trouble, which took the form of indigestion and dyspepsia. My food would ferment and cause gas and bloating with great distress after eating. I was nervous and restless and could not sleep at night; had no appetite and could not eat any meat or vegetables and lost 40 pounds in weight. Finally I began to take Plant Juice, and after taking several bottles I feel like a different man. I can eat anything of food I want to and sleep well at night and am certainly feeling fine. It has done me more good than anything I ever took in my life."

The Plant Juice is for sale at the Liggett Drug Co.'s store, corner of Washington and Avon Streets, where he is daily meeting the local public and indorsing and explaining the merits of this remedy.—Advertisement.

SWEAR BRITISH KILLED GERMAN U-BOAT CREW HELPLESS IN WATER.

Dispatches from Washington today announced that Ambassador Bernstorff has filed with the State Department affidavits confirming the statement of Dr. Charles B. Banks, a Harvard graduate and a Lowell man, to the effect that a German submarine was sunk, on the day of the sinking of the Arabic, by an English patrol boat which flew the American flag.

Captain Manning of the Nicosian already has denied that any of the Germans were shot and killed. Ambassador Page in London and Ambassador Gerard in Berlin were today instructed to forward to Washington the facts in the case as they have been presented to the two foreign offices.

The affidavits also confirm Dr. Banks' statement that the German sailors from the submarine were shot to death while swimming in the water after they had climbed aboard the Nicosian, the vessel which the submarine was attacking when the patrol boat arrived.

Dr. Banks, who comes of a leading Lowell family, wrote to friends in Lowell telling them of the scenes he had witnessed at the sinking of the submarine.

His letter, the amazing statements in which have not been corroborated by a series of sworn affidavits, was printed exclusively in "The Boston AMERICAN" on March 7, 1915.

SLAUGHTER OF SAILORS.

Dr. Banks, after growing up from a boy in Lowell, went to Harvard, attended the veterinary school there, was graduated, did veterinary work for the United States Government, and the State of Mississippi, and married a Mississippi girl. His home is at Kipley, Mississippi. Since the war began, he has served as a veterinarian on ships carrying horses and mules to England and France for the allies.

He witnessed the sinking of the German submarine and the slaughter of her sailors while they were in the water, from the decks of the patrol boat which had picked up the crew of the Nicosian—of whom Dr. Banks is his friends in Lowell, is as follows:

to his friends in Lowell, is as follows.

"I left New Orleans on August 3 on the Nicosian. It was an uneventful trip until August 19, when at 2:30 p. m. we saw a German submarine come to the surface about three miles ahead of us. She fired a blank, which meant for us to hurry up and get out.

"We went as this time seventy miles off Queenstown. We heard three distinct calls for help with our wireless. They were the regulation S. O. S. This was before we saw the submarine. It then dawned upon us that the Lusitania, the Baralong, the Arabic and a dozen had all been sunk at about this point and all about the same time.

"We sent out an S. O. S. as soon as the submarine ordered us out. Just before getting a lifeboat ready a shell tore away our wireless. We were all on board the ship, too.

"At this moment I saw approaching, about four miles away from the starboard, a steamer coming straight for us. I saw she was a fast boat and was coming fast. I thought, of course, we would all be saved and that she was a rescue ship.

"My boat had the captain aboard and we were the last to leave the Nicosian. We were about 200 feet from our steamer when the submarine opened fire upon her with high explosive shells.

"Four shots hit the water about us before any hit the ship. We were in the direct line of fire and some of the shots came as near us as they did the target.

"Twelve out of nineteen shots took effect above the water line and two below. By this time the steamer that I had observed coming fast had arrived. She was an ordinary merchantman flying an American flag.

"I took a look at the submarine, as she had come very close to us and we all thought she was preparing to torpedo into our ship after they noticed that the shell fire had not sunk her.

"On looking back again, what was my surprise to see the American flag on the steamer which had arrived, staff and all, go by the board. A white ensign was run up the mast, and what looked like a machine gun started firing from her decks. The shots were aimed at the submarine's gunners on the aft of the ship.

SWEPT AWAY BY GUN FIRE.

"The crew of the submarine ran from the guns to the conning tower, but were driven back there by the hot fire from the 'American' ship, which in reality was a British patrol boat with an English crew.

"Four twelve-pound shots were fired into the submarine, the fourth shot hitting a vital part and blowing the craft to atoms. Fragments flew a hundred feet in the air.

"A number of German sailors were swimming in the water. Some swam to our abandoned ship and climbed up ropes to the deck. Shots from the patrol boat swept several from the ropes.

"We were taken aboard the patrol boat and then the boat steamed slowly around our ill-fated ship while the marines shot and killed all the Germans in the water.

"As we had left three carbines and a lot of cartridges aboard the Nicosian, we had reason to believe the Germans had found them. So the marines went on our ship and killed seven men there. We were then towed to land port.

"The shells from the submarine killed twenty-three mules on the Nicosian. The British patrol boat was looking for survivors of the Arabic or Dunsley."

Lynn Man Struck by Auto May Die

Emil Rhud of Western avenue, Lynn, was in a critical condition today at the Union Hospital, Lynn, and may die as a result of having been run down by an automobile operated by Miss Mildred Felt of Ocean street, Lynn. Rhud suffered hemorrhage of the brain.

BARONESS ANITA DE PATTERSON

Baroness Andrew de Patterson, as Anita Baldwin, through her mother, Mrs. Lillian A. Turnbull, was a claimant for the millions of "Lucky" Baldwin.

SAYS TRUNKS OF BARON WERE NAILED DOWN

Baron Andrew de Patterson of Boston, Cleveland, Portugal and New York, and his wife, who was Anita Baldwin Turnbull, defendant claimant to "Lucky" Baldwin's millions, who were married after many adventures in Boston in early Summer, have asked the AMERICAN today to deny rumors that they have separated. Over the phone they admitted they had a little argument, but only "just the same as other married couples." They are living in Larchmont, N. Y.

Over the phone both said the argument is all over now and they have made up. Baroness Patterson parti cularly wishes the AMERICAN to deny that she threw her husband's trunks out of the window.

"How could I," said the Baroness, "when they are nailed to the floor?"

Rumors have recently been abroad that the couple were estranged. The baron is employed by the Standard Oil Company. He was knighted by King Carlos while representing the company in Portugal.

The baroness is the daughter of Mrs. Lillian A. Turnbull, who claimed to be the common law wife of the late "Lucky" Baldwin." The courts denied her a share of his fortune. After the long drawn out litigation, Miss Baldwin, who is a great beauty, made a living posing for famous artists. It was while thus engaged she met the baron.

They came to Boston to be married June 8. They planned to have Rev. Alexander Mann perform the ceremony. The first obstacle they bumped into was the five-day law. Here their troubles began. Before they were over the couple had enlisted on their behalf Governor Walsh, his private secretary, Tom Connolly; Congressman Tinkham, Judge Sheehan and Assistant City Messenger Silloway and Lawrence E. Prior of Ethel Lenox.

Judge Sheehan gave them permission to wed, but Rev. Mr. Mann and half a dozen other prospective clergymen declined to marry them, because Mr. Peterson was divorced.

They were finally married by Mr. Silloway, a justice of the peace, at his home on Beacon street, where they have been living in Larchmont.

Express Business Earnings Increased

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—Doing less business than in the preceding year, the express companies of the country, earned more than $2,000,000 net more in the twelve months ending June 30 last, according to figures made public today by the Interstate Commerce Commission. The net earnings for the year ending June 30, 1914, were $1,651,793. For the year ending June 30, 1915, the net earnings were $3,956,681. The gross revenues the past year were $75,450,247 as against $78,552,914 the previous year.

Harvard Plans Moral Discussions

The Harvard Christian Association has organized groups of students in the various dormitories for the informal discussion of religious and moral questions. Among the leaders will be Professors Thomas N. Carver, Frank W. Taussig, Reinhold Niebuhr and Dean R. H. Palmer. The different groups will meet once a week for six weeks in various rooms in the dormitories.

Harry P. Jennings of the Teamsters' Union today received many congratulations on his election as president of the Boston Central Labor Union, by unanimous vote of its members.

Mr. Jennings, one of the few men ever accorded this honor, also is international vice-president of the Teamsters' Union, to which position he was re-elected at the recent convention of that union at San Francisco. He further has been selected to represent the Boston C. L. U. at the coming convention at San Francisco next month, and is one of the best-known labor leaders in New England.

M'Call Calls for Republican Unity

Samuel W. McCall, the Republican candidate for Governor, today sought to stem whatever tide may be flowing from Republican to Prohibition ranks. Mr. McCall pleaded for unanimous party support at several rallies in Plymouth County. He said that either he or Governor Walsh would be elected and that one for William Shaw, the Prohibition candidate, would be half a vote for Governor Walsh.

To Confer on Foot and Mouth Disease

Dr. Lester H. Howard, State Commissioner of Animal Industry, was notified today of a conference on the foot and mouth disease to be held in Chicago, November 29 and 30, under the auspices of the Federal Department of Agriculture. National and State officials, agricultural experts and railroad and stockyard agents will formulate a national campaign against the disease.

Aberdeens Leave Boston for Toronto

Lord and Lady Aberdeen, who spent several days in Boston as guests of local friends, and saw a ball game and the suffrage parade, have left for Toronto, where they plan to spend a few days before proceeding on to the Panama-Pacific Exposition, where they will be entertained by the management.

CAPITAL MAY GET BIG WILSON RECEPTION

By the International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—A quiet rift that the wedding of Mrs. Norman Galt and President Wilson will be "an affair" with only the immediate relatives and a few personal friends present, is causing much disappointment in Washington official circles.

The hint comes from a source close to the bride-to-be, although it is in no way "official." However, the very fact that the ceremony is to be performed in Mrs. Galt's home, which is none too spacious, is accepted as confirmation.

BIG RECEPTION PROBABLE.

Limited to the relatives of the couple and the members of the President's Cabinet, who it is expected will be invited, and to the few others who could not be overlooked, space will certainly be at a premium, and this fact makes it almost certain that there will be no elaborate ceremony.

But if the wedding is to be a private one, it is expected that a reception will be given shortly after Mrs. Galt takes her place as mistress of the White House. Inasmuch as there are certain to be many heartburnings and sorrows by those who will be unable to be present at the wedding, the political advisers of the President believe the wise thing to do will be to hold such a reception as soon after the honeymoon is over as possible.

STROLL IN PARKS.

The President and Mrs. Galt continue to get much pleasure out of their courtship. Despite the fact that the entire city was covered with a blanket of mist they went for a stroll last evening through residential Washington, stopping at the various parks, at the street corner parks.

Mrs. Galt was wearing rather proudly the President's latest gift—a wonderful wrist watch set in platinum and diamonds, a memento of her birthday, which it now develops was last Friday.

Although Mrs. Galt's favorite colors are blacks and grays and combinations of the two, modistes here are now popularizing what they call "boiling brown," a dull but rich shade of brown, which the President's fiancee has decided on for many of the gowns of her trousseau. It is pointed out that her favorite colors are too closely associated with the unsuccessful period for use at this time and the new shade will likely prove immensely popular.

Mrs. Galt will be presented today at a tea at the White House in her honor, to the ladies of the Cabinet and to the Washington friends of the President.

Miss Margaret Wilson returned to Washington today. She is expected to entertain at tea. Mrs. Francis B. Sayre is not expected till Thursday. She is to remain at the White House for several weeks, probably until after the wedding. Mrs. William G. McAdoo will not return until November 1.

Woburn Reorganizes Fire Department

A general reorganization of the Woburn Fire Department went into effect today, by which four companies were dropped from the list. The house of Engine No. 1 on Winn street with a crew of ten men and a triple combination motor engine, will be the future home of the Woburn department. Twenty-one call men have been honorably discharged.

MOVIE BALL

Under auspices Motion Picture Exhibitors League of Mass., Inc.

121 Awards

HERE IS THE CONTEST PLAN!

VOTE FOR YOUR FAVORITE STAR! A coupon will be printed each day in the Daily and Sunday American; the Daily good for ONE (1) vote and the Sunday coupon good for TEN (10) votes. The eleven Movie Picture Stars (six actresses and five actors) who receive the largest number of votes will be chosen to lead the Double Sextette Grand March with Governor Walsh at the Movie Ball. The eleven voters who submit the largest number of votes for the selected Movie Stars will have a special reserved box section at the ball, receive autographed photographs of their favorite stars presented in person at the ball, meet all the film stars, face to face, be present as honored guests at the Film Stars' Banquet immediately after the ball and go to and from the ball in touring automobiles.

The next 11 voters EACH get invitations to the Ball and TWO reserved seats. The next 99 voters EACH get ONE invitation to the BALL.

In the event of ties, similar awards will be given to those tied. No subscriptions will be accepted for vote credit during the contest. This is a straight coupon voting contest only.

The Contest started Sunday, Oct. 10, 1915, and ends Sunday, Nov. 7, 1915. (Only Four Weeks).

The vote coupon appears on Page 2 of the Daily and Sunday American. Vote it for your favorite Movie Picture Star! And be there yourself as an honored guest.

Stefansson Finds Fresh Arctic Ice

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Oct. 18.—A letter has come to Professor W. H. Hobbs of the University of Michigan from the Arctic explorer, Vilhjalmur Stefansson, from his camp on the southeast coast of Banks Land. This letter was written January 12.

Stefansson says that the floe ice of the Beaufort Sea, which is originally salt, becomes so fresh after two seasons weathering that the tongue can detect no saltness in it. Hay tea in a single season is rendered fresh.

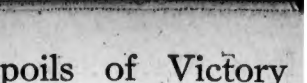
BOSTON AMERICAN SPORTS



FEDS FAR FROM DEAD, CLAIMS GILMORE.

By SAM CRANE.

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—These Federal League magnates who witnessed the recent World's Series games must have been convinced that unless their organization is represented hereafter in that most important baseball event their race will not amount to much.

The entire interest of fandom the country over is centred in the games that decided the baseball championship of the universe. It is the glittering focus, the thrilling finish, the grand climax of all that has gone before, and, consequently, dominates the national game.

The Federal Leaguers, whom I met during the series, and they were the big ones, tried to belittle the importance of the series, and, although they talked loud and long and made a brave attempt, still I thought I could detect the sour-grape feeling hidden in their arguments.

WHAT GILMORE SAYS.

They must have been deeply chagrined over their inability to get a slice of the big money that the series produced, but they evidently desired to give the impression that it was the loss of prestige their organization sustained by not being represented in the series, rather than the money. President Gilmore said:

"This series is not for the world's championship. It is for the championship of organized baseball only. How can it decide which is the best club in baseball unless the winning club of the Federal League is included in the series? And until we are represented in it the result of the series is misleading, for it fails to take in the Federal League, the strongest organization in baseball, financially and artistically.

"To show that we are confident in what we say, and have the utmost faith in our ability to win, we have had a standing offer to play our winning club against the winner of organized baseball championship (the Boston Red Sox), a series for $100,000 a side, the entire gate receipts to be given to charity."

WHY NOT A MILLION?

Then, looking at Harry Sinclair, the Newark magnate, Mr. Gilmore asked, "is that wager for $100,000 or $200,000?"

Sinclair put up two fingers and remarked: "Our Chicago Whales can beat the Red Sox."

With Gilmore and Sinclair there were Phil Ball of St. Louis, Ed Gwinner of Pittsburgh, and Pat Powers, manager of the Newark Feds, and they all nodded their heads, signifying perfect accord with Sinclair's broad defi.

President Gilmore, warming up, continued: "Well, you can bet we will force Ban Johnson and the rest of those fellows to recognize us. When we locate in New York city and open our new grounds at popular prices, and we have them on the island, too, make no mistake about that."

CLAIMS SUPPERT WONT BUILD.

Sinclair then broke in: "I see that the Yankees are going away out into the wilds of Long Island to locate their new park. I'll bet Jake Ruppert $50,000 that we will have our new grounds all completed and ready for business before he begins to build his. He will not be ready before 1917, and I doubt whether he will be ready then. Sinclair continued: "How many clubs in the National League made money this season?"

When I meekly said: "The New York club, probably $100,000 or more," there was a roar of laughter.

"What?" said Sinclair, "$100,000, why the whole of organized baseball did not make that much money. I tell you we have them on the run. It is the men with the largest pocketbooks who will win out. We have them and are willing to spend our money.

"These O. B. people are wondering where we get all the money we are putting in to make our league. Well, I will say we have only just begun to spend money. We have unlimited backing and we are going to stick."

A BLUFF? YES; NO.

This little gathering and big talk took place in the Ritz-Carlton, Philadelphia, after one of the games in the World's Series. Gilmore and Sinclair did most of the talking, but both Ball and Gwinner agreed with the statement made by the head of the Federal League and the Newark owner.

Now, whether all this was bluff and bluster I am not prepared to say, but all of the gentlemen appeared to be very sincere and also determined in their statements of what they are going to do in the future. With two big losing seasons behind them, and facing another that does not afford any very glittering promises, these Federal Leaguers, if they do live up to all they say they are going to do, surely have nerve.

But will they, or, rather, can they? We will see what we shall see.

Leo Handy Slated to Enter Worcester

Leo Handy, the intercholastic all-round swimming champion for 1915, plans quitting Brookline High for Worcester Academy if he does switch schools the Brookline boy will scarcely figure conspicuously in the championship meets.

Handy is the logical favorite for the 100, and 220 yards events, and it remains to be seen if he will win the points for Worcester Academy or stand by his old school.

TURNER FAVORED TO SUCCEED LILL

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—As the time approaches for the annual convention of the Amateur Athletic Union, it is becoming more evident daily that there is certain to be a scramble for the position of president, which will be vacated by Alfred J. Lill, Jr., of Boston, who will retire this year after serving the customary two-year term.

William F. Humphrey of the Olympic Club, San Francisco, has flatly asserted that under no circumstances will he accept the nomination, which Justice Bartow S. Weeks, Frederick W. Rubien and others high up in the A. A. U. are trying to induce him to take.

Rumor has it strong that George J. Turner of Baltimore, present third vice-president of the A. A. U., who is regarded highly throughout the East, will be Mr. Lill's successor.

Hungarian Cueist May Enter Tourney

Entries for the handicap 18.2 balkline tournament to be held in New York November 15 to 20 inclusive will close Wednesday. Willie Hoppe, who is in Boston for his 14.1 match with Koji Yamada on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday nights, has already entered. That George Sutton and Yamada will be among the other entrants is said to be assured.

It is possible that Adjoran, the Hungarian expert, will be one of the participants. When the war began he left Paris, where he had been playing in an academy, and went to Spain. Recently he wrote to Sutton that he would like to come to the United States and would do so if there were any prospects of actively in professional billiards.

Answering promptly, Sutton urged him to come and enter in the handicap. Although about sixty years of age, Adjoran is said to have improved in the last three years more than any other billiard player in the world.

Reads Like the Bunk.

DETROIT, Oct. 18.—It is reported here that Manager Jennings of the Tigers is looking for a younger and spryer man to keep Ty Cobb and Bob Veach company in the club's outfield and that Sam Crawford will be traded during the Winter. It is stated that if Jennings can secure a high-class hurler in exchange he will part with "Wahoo Sam."

THE RABBIT'S COLUMN By Walter J. Maranville SHORTSTOP OF THE BRAVES

Just because the World's Series is over none of you "fans" want to think for one minute that I have put away all thoughts of baseball until it comes time for the Braves to start for Miami, Fla., in the Spring. I am interested in everything that is said about baseball and I expect to be able during the next few weeks to get some live tips for my readers direct from some of the men who are already planning the campaigns of the National League clubs for 1916.

* * *

Baseball is more of a 365-day-a-year proposition than a good many of the "fans" stop to think. None of the eight managers in the Zener circuit left for home after the curtain was rung down without having a good, long talk with their boss about the plans for the next campaign.

* * *

Fred Clarke, of the Pirates, of course, won't be manager next year, but I'll wager he won't be over the year's work pretty thoroughly with the Pittsburgh owners and gave them some good suggestions for next year's battles. "Buck" Herzog, I hear, may not manage the Reds next year, but nevertheless he spent some time in casting up accounts for the year.

* * *

Herzog, as a matter of fact, didn't hesitate to say, when he was in Boston on the last trip of the year, that he was about tired of baseball. Players on some of the other teams told me he said the same thing when he came to their city. He may have some motive in this, or perhaps he is really tired of the game. Of course, we all know he realized his ambition of beating out the Giants in the final standing, but the Cincinnati figures of .461 were not so much above the .454 his former boss, McGraw, achieved that "Buck" can feel unduly elated.

* * *

I think the Braves will be delighted with Miami as a training trip headquarters. We will go there for five seasons, as Mr. Gaffney has an agreement with the Chamber of Commerce there which provides a fine park will be erected for us if we sign up for that length of time. The Brooklyns will be nearby and we can have some fine games with them and there will also be many good teams within easy distance with which we can stage some battles.

* * *

I was sorry to see Bert Whaling and Horace Moran released from the Braves, but I hear that Wilhoit, who is coming from the Venica club of the Pacific League as part of the deal, is a very fine prospect. His figures of .350 at bat make him look good to start with, but of course Manager Stallings will soon see whether he can maintain that gait against National League pitching.

* * *

I suppose more of the Braves reserve list of thirty-two will figure in sales or trades, but it wouldn't be fitting for me to take up this subject. We can rely on Messrs. Gaffney and Stallings to put a dandy team into the 1916 race. I am sure that we Braves will get into the fight from the first game and try to bring the Tener pennant back to this city from Fat Moran's custody.

* * *

Just to show that baseball does not die down so very much during the Winter I only have to point out that the administration building at Braves Field will be open every week day right along and that I will keep you "fans" informed on the news that trickles from Business Manager Hapgood's office.

SIDELIGHTS ON SPORTS

By RIGHT FIELD.

ENTER Roger Bresnahan, manager of the Cubs, who says: "The coming Winter will witness more free-for-all trading and shakeups in baseball circles than for many, many years. I have been told to make the sky is the limit when I go out to land real players for the Cubs."

THIS pro-season militancy on the part of the Rajah means that there will be no new park for the Cubs in 1916, providing anybody thought there would be. Of course, this is the time of the year when money is spent by ball clubs just as careless like as if it grew over Winter in the deserted ball yards. Following the close of the Chicago city series by the Cubs for the fifth straight time, President Thomas came out with the threat that he will trade any or all of his hired men.

THE Cub machine, a phrase which we haven't heard much about, except in retrospect, since the days of Tinker, Evers and Chance, is to be rebuilt. Heinie Zimmerman, the despair of several managers, is reported to be about as welcome for next year as Larry McLean would be if he appeared at the Polo Grounds and told John J. McGraw that he would like his old job back. Archer and Fisher are also mentioned as likely to figure in a deal of some sort.

THE Cub pitchers turned in a woefully weak year's work. But in order to get new pitchers Bresnahan will have to offer some of his good men in other positions in exchange. A straight swap of pitchers is something most alert managers fight shy of, for somebody is bound to get a rude awakening in the course of weeks or months.

THE Cubs lauded two likely right-handers in the draft, Wright of Virginia, Minn., and J. Bradley Hoag of Medina. Said Hogg is none other than a former performer for the Boston Nationals in the old Walpole street days. On the day that old "Cy" Young pitched his first game in a Boston National uniform—it was "Cy Young Day," and the fog treated him something shameful —Hogg, then a broiler, was sent in to relieve the great pitcher who was spending his last year on the ball ground that all hurlers hit sooner or later.

HOGG won twenty-one and lost eleven with Mobile. He hurled two games for the Cubs at the season's close and got away with one, a shutout affair.

ROGER says he won't let Frank Schulte, the veteran of the sun-field, go, even if he has to "spend a sum of staggering proportions" in other rebuilding lines. Intimations from Chicago are that ex-Pirate Alex McCarthy, a clever youngster who joined the Cubs about September 1, will start the season either at second or third, and that Eddie Mulligan, the novice from Davenport, will be at short.

THERE are fifteen other managers who join with Roger Bresnahan in saying, "We will have a pennant winner next year." Just about fifteen of these prophets are wrong from the start.

Comiskey Bent Upon Acquiring Home-Run Baker

Owner Charles A. Comiskey of the White Sox, who spent a fortune trying to acquire the 1915 American League flag, does not intend to curtail his extravagance in the least, even if he missed fire this year. On the contrary, Comiskey intends going the full route, as he is bent upon having the 1916 pennant winner.

"I hear the Old Roman has only started on his campaign for star material at any price," said Frank J. Navin, president of the Detroit (American League) club, during the World's Series.

"Comiskey is determined to land J. Franklin Baker at any cost. I understand he is ready to offer Connie Mack as much for the home run king as he paid Charles Somers for Joe Jackson.

"Mack could have had that price for Baker a month before the end of the season just closed, but he is not anxious to dispose of the recalcitrant player. He felt that a principle was involved in smoothing the path for a man who had refused to fulfil the obligations of an expired contract.

"Besides, the American League as a whole, and Ban Johnson in particular, opposed the idea of making the circuit pathway while, late in the season, one club to absorb too pronounced strength.

"I understand that because of the failure of his present star collection Comiskey is more than ever bent upon getting the services of Baker and that he will outbid any rival in cash or players."

Four Boston Stars Included in Party

CINCINNATI, Oct. 18.—The All-Americans and All-Nationals are congregating here for their tour to the Pacific coast, which gets under way tomorrow. Frank Bancroft, business manager of the Cincinnati club, will be in charge of the party. The rival lineups:

Americans—Shapfer, Ayers, James and Harper, pitchers; Henry and Cady, catchers; Hobitzell, first base; Mullen, second base; Gray, Schang, third base; Shanks, shortstop; Walker, Roth and Strunk, outfielders; Pipp, utility.

Nationals—Coombs, Alexander, Pfeffer and Vaughn, pitchers; Miller and McCarty, catchers; Daubert, first base; Evers, second base; Groh, third base; Fisher, shortstop; Carey, Killifer and Magee, outfielders.

The players will be entertained at the California Expositions. The tour is due to end November 3.

Joe Higgins Shines at Memorial Games

JERSEY CITY, Oct. 18.—A crowd of fully 12,000 persons paid tribute to the memory of the late James E. Sullivan, the country's athletic monarch for upwards of twenty-five years, on the Hudson oval. While no admission fee was charged, a big amount was raised for the Sullivan Memorial Fund by means of private contributions.

Joe Higgins of Holy Cross won the 880-yard run from W. Adams of Newark and Walter Powe, Smart Set A. C.; time, 2 min. 3-5 sec. Higgins breasted the tape fully twenty yards in advance of Adams.

Willis Gordon took the mile run from Abel Kivlat, while Hannes Kolehmainen, back in his old form, placed the five-mile to his credit. Gaston Strobino was second and Nick Ginakopulos third.

Ruppert May Not Build.

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—After all, the chances are that the Yankees will again play their games on the Polo Grounds in 1916. Where it was reported last week that Ruppert and Huston were going to build a new park in Queens, today the Yankee owners declare that they cannot get the location they seek and will probably continue using the Giants' home.

MATTIE'S 1905 RECORD STILL STANDS

TEN years have passed since the record for few runs scored in a World's Series was established, and it still holds good.

IN the Fall of 1905, when the New York Giants and the Athletics met for the title, a total of eighteen runs was scored, the Giants getting fifteen, while the Mackmen had to be satisfied with three runs in five games, all of which were made in one contest.

THE series just played was a tight-score series and is next to the one of 1905, but for real close decisions the scores of the series recently fought by the Red Sox and the Phillies were the greatest ever.

TWENTY-TWO runs were scored, but they were divided up in a more even manner than those in the Giants-Athletics series. Boston made twelve and the Phillies ten.

FOR all-around excellence and effectiveness in the pitching by Matthewson against the Athletics that season has never been equaled, and remains as the best performance of all hurlers who strained nerve, brawn, and brain to win fame in three contests for the highest honors in baseball.

MATHEWSON blanked the Athletics for twenty-seven innings—three full games—and the most wonderful thing about the achievement is the fact the hard hitters of C. Mack never had the remotest chance of getting a score.

ZIMMERMAN BALKS AT TRADE

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—Hon Heinie Zimmerman, the Cubs' slugging infielder, who resides in the Bronx, emitted wild shrieks of anguish when he learned that Roger Bresnahan was planning upon trading him to the Giants in exchange for Larry Doyle.

"Play under McGraw? I should say not," was Zimmerman's wail when asked if he would stand for the deal. McGraw is the hardest man in the league to work for. Neither will I go to Cincinnati. I will play with the Cubs or quit organized ball."

According to the officials of the Giants, Zimmerman has no occasion to work himself up

Most men like Fatimas—but maybe you won't

Fatimas please so many men that they outsell any other cigarette costing over 5c.

But it may happen that your taste won't fit Fatimas. That's nothing against you. Nor against Fatimas.

But if your taste does fit Fatimas, you can feel doubly grateful. For of this you can be sure—Fatimas are cool and friendly to the throat and tongue. And they will never leave you "feeling mean" as long as you smoke within the bounds of reason. These tests show you how to prove this.

Because Fatimas are cool and because they can be smoked freely and often—they have rightly earned the title, "The Sensible Cigarette."

It simply remains for you to see if their taste suits you as well as it is suiting thousands and thousands of other men. Test Fatimas today.

By SYDE LYNES.

The Harvard eleven has another hard row to hoe this week. The "hood old days," when it was a foregone conclusion that the Crimson would have an easy time each succeeding Saturday up to within a game or so of the very end, have passed. This year a stiff schedule was arranged and Cornell is the next cause of worry.

The Ithacans will renew football relations with Harvard next Saturday after a years' layoff. Cornell has a team composed largely of veteran material. The overwhelming defeat of Bucknell last Saturday on Percy Field proves that the Ithaca eleven is a dangerous one and need be met with due respect.

In the game with Virginia Harvard showed a big improvement over its form of the preceding Saturday. The defence was no longer a wavering line of indecision. To be sure, there were several times when the Crimson defence was a little confused by the delayed pass, but these moments were happily few and far between.

The Crimson rushline more closely resembled the lines of the last two years. The attack was a more smoothly running affair and its increased power and effectiveness were shown in the long march down the field, a march, however, that was stopped within the shadow of the Virginia goal.

ATTACK LACKS "PUNCH."

The Crimson attack was effective only so long as the Virginia defence was spread out. When the latter came in close, and their rear end quite Harvard's offence showed its lack of unity and finish, in short, it lacked the "punch." Its one greatest characteristic of a football eleven with championship aspirations.

It is not to be expected that a team which had experienced shift after shift from the start of the season, could in one week's time develop into a finished machine. A great deal was done last week. Still, more can and will be done.

Chief among the aims of the coaches this week will be the acquisition of a good, strong "punch" for the eleven. This must come, as the Crimson team cannot depend wholly upon Mahan's kicking. The old warning against placing all of one's eggs in one basket holds as true in football as in the case of the eggs themselves.

Another feature of the Harvard play, which apparently needs a whole lot of improvement, is the forward pass. Several weeks ago it looked as if the Crimson were away ahead in this play, but Saturday's game showed up a real weakness, mainly on the part of the man whose duty it was to receive the ball on the formation.

SLOW GETTING OUT.

They were slow in getting out to their positions, and, in one instance, when the ball had settled safely in the arms of Curtis, the latter had to make a miserable fooole of it. There is absolutely no good reason why any man should have dropped the ball as he did. It's poor enough when they fail to reach short passes, but fumbles are inexcusable.

Speaking of fumbles, this brings to mind another source of worry for the coaches, which this week's drill must eliminate. Willcox, putting up a pretty good game at quarter, made a bad mess of the kicks he chased. If Thurman, the big Virginia guard, had used his head as well as his feet when punting, and had been careful not to outkick his ends, the fumbles might have been costly. As it was, Thurman was so anxious to outkick Mahan, which he frequently did, that he lost sight of the fact that by doing so he was defeating his own ends by outkicking them.

With the exception of the usual bruises and bumps, which every football player considers as his heritage of the game, the Harvard warriors came through the hard struggle with Virginia in first-class shape. This is indeed fortunate, as the Crimson needs every man in the practice from now until the end of the season.

The work today promises to be light. All the regulars are to don togs and are expected to have a lively, if stiff scrimmage which was sprung on the men last Monday is not for today.

Gilman's presence in the Harvard line at the start of the Virginia game was a stimulus to the rest of the men. His playing was as fierce and effective as it was two years ago, when he bid fair to make a record for himself as a tackle. He frequently broke through the line Saturday and caught plays before they were really started.

PRINCETON'S EARLY FORM IS SUPREME FOR EASTERN TEAMS

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—With Saturday's gridiron battles the football season passed it formative stage and speculation now centres on the value of the work accomplished as related to the big eleven which are drawing near. Taken as a whole, comparatively few of the so-called surprises.

Of those which have come to be known as the "Big Three," Harvard, Yale and Princeton, only one has suffered defeat, and, if the circle is extended to include Pennsylvania and Cornell, there has been but a single other victory registered by what formerly were termed the minor eleven. Yale was beaten by Virginia and Pennsylvania fell before the attack of Penn State.

Basing the judgment on the playing thus far, Princeton appears to have shown a more rational development than any of the colleges mentioned. Well grounded in football fundamentala, the Tigers are gaining their speed by gradual increase and it creaks only points that he has judged Princeton's opponents so accurately that he has always been able to have his eleven a trifle more formidable, either in power or generalship, or both.

TIGERS SCORE AT WILL.

Undeniably more powerful teams than any of the others and one, Rutgers, hurled itself at the Tigers in top form, while Princeton was still laboring in the throes of early season preparation, Saturday the Tigers showed the best work they have thus far done in offensive when they defeated Lafayette, 40 to 3.

That the score was big indicates there was much latent power, for it had been the policy this season not to attempt big scores.

Princeton has a powerful backfield and the punting is well taken care of by Driggs. As for the quarterback position itself, Captain Glick is a clever general and he has also an able substitute in Ames. Glick has played comparatively little thus far, the coaches taking him out so that he may be saved for the big games.

Though the only points made by Harvard against Virginia were field goals, they were gratifying to the Crimson supporters to know that the first basis of comparison with Yale has turned out to favor the Crimson eleven. Mahan out-punted Thurman and proved his drop-kicking ability again by scoring all the points from the field. But, notwithstanding this fact, the Crimson defence was shaping itself into a dependable bulwark. Virginia could not gain; in fact, made only one first down during the game.

CORNELL IS UNCERTAIN.

Just how much the Crimson will have to prepare for Cornell is problematical, for the Ithacans are more of an uncertain quantity than any of the other big colleges. They have won three games, all of them by big scores, but no one of their opponents furnished the real test which Cornell desired.

Yale has been a disappointment to its followers. Beaten by Virginia, and just managing to defeat Lehigh by one point, is not the usual story to be recorded of Yale's early season football.

However, Saturday Yale showed to the best advantage of the season in the game against Springfield Y. M. C. A. College. There was more driving in the team than heretofore; more of the fighting spirit and this must certainly be an encouragement after the rather sluggish play that had gone before.

The Blue has some good material and it may be now that it will be welded into form so that there will be a powerful eleven before another week or two lapses.

PENNSY'S POOR START.

Something appears to be wrong with Pennsylvania, when the Quakers can do no better than earn a tie with the weak Navy team, which has not won a game this season. There is good material for a powerful eleven, the best in years, as one Pennsylvania man described it. And yet Pennsylvania has already been defeated by Penn State, a strong eleven, but not one that should humble the Quakers under conditions which prevail with regard to material. The Quakers are playing a wide-open game, and, once perfect in all the fine points, may prove a creditable eleven.

The Army showed itself woefully weak in the game with Colgate. The team appears to be slow and is nowhere near playing the game of which the men should be capable. The development of the Army is, however, inclined to be slow, as there is only one game that really counts—that with the Navy—and a little later the Cadets may catch their stride.

The Navy, too, has presented a weak front so far this season though there was encouragement in the showing against Pennsylvania, even though the tally made by the Middies was the result of a fluke. The Navy, however, develops quickly and the showing against the Quakers is taken as the first sign of improvement.

First Hockey Game Is Set for Dec. 31

The Interscholastic Hockey League will again line up with a membership of seven clubs. Newton, Somerville, Arlington, Rindge Technical, Cambridge Latin, Medford and Melrose are the teams enrolled and all advance indications are that the battle for the championship will be a red hot one.

The opening game is set for December 31, when Rindge Technical and Newton High clash. All the games will be played at the Arena. The schedule:

Dec. 31, Newton High vs. Rindge Tech.; Jan. 5, Melrose High vs. Medford; January 7, Arlington High vs. Cambridge Latin; Jan. 12, Rindge Tech. vs. Melrose High; Jan. 14, Arlington High vs. Somerville; Jan. 17, Medford High vs. Cambridge Latin; Jan. 19, Cambridge Latin vs. Melrose High; Jan. 21, Newton High vs. Somerville; Jan. 26, Arlington High vs. Rindge Technical; Jan. 28, Somerville High vs. Melrose High; Jan. 28, Rindge Technical vs. Medford High; Jan. 31, Newton High vs. Arlington.

Feb. 2, Arlington High vs. Melrose; Feb. 4, Somerville High vs. Arlington High; Feb. 9, Newton High vs. Cambridge Latin; Feb. 11, Arlington High vs. Medford; Feb. 14, Cambridge Latin vs. Somerville Latin; Feb. 16, Medford High vs. Melrose High; Feb. 22, Rindge Technical vs. Cambridge Latin; Feb. 23, Newton High vs. Melrose High; Feb. 25, Somerville High vs. Rindge Technical.

Harvard Freshmen at Training Table

President Lowell of Harvard, in accordance with the wishes of the coaches of the Harvard freshman football team, has granted permission for the establishment of a training table in Smith Hall. The following men have been taking to the table:

Centres, Bates; Canfield, W. Hoffman and Wells; guards, Clark, Coburn, Linder and Zach; tackles, Burnham, Cummings, Eaton, Fishback, Flynn, Lawrence, Parker and Putnam; ends, Brewer, R. Hoffman, Freeman, Phinney, Smith, Watkins and Wood; backs, Batchelder, Bond, Casey, Coolidge, Crosman, Felton, Fowler, Fuller, Gaston, Pratt, Trainor and Worke.

Navy Ends Are Weak.

ANNAPOLIS, Oct. 18.—The Navy coaches plan a week of extremely heavy work. Harrison and Jackson, the two ends, showed poor form in the Pennsylvania game and will probably be replaced. Blodgett and Kenworthy are picked to succeed the two delinquents.

Two New Harvard Captains.

Two acting captains of freshmen teams at Harvard have just been appointed. Flower, the Middlesex schoolboy, who plays right halfback on the 1919 eleven and whose long run Saturday gave the team a victory over Andover, is the new freshman gridiron leader. Edwin E. Lucas of New York will act as freshman soccer captain.

Kilbane Up on Carpet.

MILWAUKEE, Oct. 18.—Johnny Kilbane, the featherweight champion, has been ordered to appear before the Milwaukee Boxing Commission and explain his languid work in his recent bout with Eddie Mitchell in this city. Kilbane boxed Cal Delaney in Akron, O., last Monday night and was roundly hissed for his slovenly performance.

Lewis-Mandot; White-Saylor Booked at Atlas

Ted (Kid) Lewis, the speedy London boxer, who decisively defeated Jack Britton in their recent bout at the Atlas A. A., has been signed to meet Joe Mandot, Southland's lightweight champion and one of the shiftiest 138-pound boys in the profession, on October 20. The match looms up as a rare spicy one and should attract a gala gathering of Boston's boxing lovers.

November 2 Charley White, the Chicago lightweight, will go on with Milburn (Young) Saylor of Indianapolis. This is another high-class match; in fact, the two bouts are just about the banner pair of the season.

Cornell Hard at It for Harvard Battle

ITHACA, Oct. 18.—The Cornell coaches are planning a busy week's work with the varsity squad so that it will be in tip-top trim for Saturday's battle with Harvard. The big game goes on in Cambridge and Ithaca can be relied upon sending on a big crowd of "rooters." Cornell's record this Fall is 135 points against its opponents 14.

Little real practice was gained in the Bucknell contest Saturday, and this was regretted by the coaches, as they hoped the visiting eleven would show better form and give the Cornell varsity a rugged encounter. Night drills in the baseball league are expected because the team leaves for Boston Thursday night and whatever is accomplished in practice must be done in three days.

Brown Eleven Looms Up as Starry One

PROVIDENCE, Oct. 18.—Followers of the Brown University eleven are beside themselves with joy following the 53 to 0 victory registered over Williams College Saturday. The team played fast football from first to last and only but little fumbling. All the players came out of the Williams contest in good shape, Jimmy Murphy, last year's crack quarterback, will rejoin the squad today, he having been laid off by the coaches because of working too hard in the early practice.

Run for Harvard Freshmen.

The Harvard Freshmen cross-country team will open its season next Saturday afternoon when it meets the Providence Technical School team over the cemetery course, which starts and ends on Soldiers' Field. The length of the run will be three miles. While the "freshies" are engaging Providence, the varsity will be running Tech on Harvard's course in Belmont.

Great Old Remedy For Skin Diseases

S. S. S. Clears Skin of Eruptions, Drives Poison from the System.

Get it fixed in your mind that skin eruptions, Scrofula, Eczema, burning, itching skin, and all skin diseases are due entirely to impure and infected blood. If the trouble was on the outside of the skin, by simply washing and keeping it clean you could obtain relief—not even ointments, lotions, and salves, would be necessary. Agree with us in this belief, and your trouble can be relieved—you can be entirely restored to health. S. S. S. is a purely vegetable treatment that you can secure from your own druggist—it is a blood tonic that will purify your blood and cause a most decided abatement of your trouble, and finally make you entirely well. Fifty years ago S. S. S. was discovered and given to suffering mankind. During this period it has proven its remarkable curative properties as a blood purifier and tonic, and has relieved thousands of cases of disease caused by poor or impure blood. You can be relieved, but you must take S. S. S. Take it if only pimples appear, for they denote bad blood, and may be followed by the sufferings from torturing skin eruptions. Therefore be sure. Don't take chances, don't use lotions. Get S. S. S. from your druggist. If yours is a special case, write for expert medical advice to S. S. S. Co., Atlanta, Ga.

CARL WHITE DOWN TO REPLACE WAY

NEW HAVEN, Oct. 18.—An X-ray examination of Fullback Otto Guerner's right shoulder, injured in the Lehigh game October 8, shows a badly strained ligament. Coach Hinkey fears he is lost for the Harvard-Princeton games.

NEW HAVEN, Oct. 18.—Washington and Jefferson is Yale's next opponent. Head Coach Hinkey and his associates are elated over the showing in Saturday's game with Springfield Y. M. C. A. College and are confident that they have a winning machine under way. Carl White, though still a trifle lame, is expected to take Way's place at centre within a few days. Vorys, last year's freshman centre, is back with the squad.

Balbridge and Black, who were injured in the Lehigh game, are again sound and will get into the practice today. Fullback Guernsey, as well as Bettis and Thompson, three other Yale warlors crippled in the Lehigh battle, may be out for the season. Since the Lehigh game, so far as play with the varsity is concerned.

While Guernsey may be able to work part of the way in the Harvard game if needed, the indications are that he will scarcely be able to survive over one period. Bettis, too, may be able to do a little active work later on, but as for Thompson, he will hardly re-don his moleskins again this Fall.

For the next week or two it is generally thought that Captain Alec Wilson will remain at quarter, with Smith, Scovil and Le Gore keeping him company behind the line.

Detroit Eleven May Clash with Everett

At a meeting of the Everett Field Corporation Thursday evening it will be definitely decided if Central High of Detroit will be brought on for a game with Everett High the Saturday after Thanksgiving. The Detroit school is anxious to come to Boston for the battle. In its last three games it defeated Toledo High 39 to 0, Grand Rapids High 81 to 0, and Pontiac, Mich., High 56 to 0. The Detroit eleven is an unusually heavy one, averaging 175 pounds.

Dundee Matched with Rivers.

MILWAUKEE, Oct. 18.—Frank Mulkern, who announced a short time ago that he was through with the fight game, has come back and announces that he will stage a ten-round bout between Johnny Dundee and Joe Rivers, October 25.

PRINCETON WELL OFF WITH TALENT

PRINCETON, Oct. 18.—Elated by the decisive result of Saturday's game with Lafayette, the entire Tiger squad reported today eager for work. With the Dartmouth game only a week off there will be no letup in Princeton's practice.

While the excellent showing of Jack Eddy Saturday was not unexpected, it was pleasing to the coaches and makes the backfield look much more formidable. "Buzz" Law will strengthen the team greatly and will give Driggs a chance to rest now and then. Driggs had to play the whole of the first three games.

Everybody here realizes that Lafayette had a weak team and the good showing of the varsity against her has not raised the expectations of the Princeton supporters. Captain Glick is a fixture at quarterback, but since Law has appeared on the scene the rest of the backfield seems stronger than ever before. Either Driggs or Law will be the fullback.

It does not seem possible that Tibbot can be kept off the team, but he has to contend with Eddy, Shea, Lamberton, Moore and Charles for the two half positions and the whole back is improving. The Tigers only used six plays Saturday and they were all of the simplest kind. Rush plans improving the offence this week.

Ertle Is Coming East.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 18.—Johnny Ertle, the St. Paul lightweight boxer who recently defeated Champion Williams, gaining his triumph on a foul, leaves for the East after engaging in two minor bouts here.

JOHNNY HARVEY HERALDED AS LIVE WIRE

CHARLEY WHITE will invade these parts again this week. The noted Chicago mauler is scheduled to battle Johnny Harvey of New York in a twelve-round frolic at the Atlas A. A. tomorrow night.

Ad Wolgast, former lightweight champion of the well-known universe, was originally carded to battle White. Everything went along smoothly until the honorable Mr. Wolgast got a severe attack of cold feet, for they called off his end of the match. Then Harvey was named to take the champion's place.

Harvey has never boxed in this city. He has made quite a record as a puncher. He forced Matty Baldwin to quit as a result of a couple of terrific rips in a contest held in New Orleans. He also engaged in two ten-round whirls with Johnny Griffiths, while he fought ten merry rounds with Joe Rivers.

WHITE will enter the ring tomorrow night a big favorite in the betting. This is to be expected, as the Chicago boxer is one of the game's leading lightweights. He is the hardest hitting boxer of his weight in the world and will knock out any man whom he is able to hit with a few solid left hooks on the jaw.

It is not any discredit to Harvey that the wise men expect him to be beaten. The betting element thinks very well of White and would back him heavily if he were to meet Champion Freddy Welsh in a twenty-round tussle. "Young" Saylor recently gave White a hard twelve-round bout at the Arena. The decision was a draw, but it is not any secret that the Indianapolis boy was entitled to the verdict. But, regardless of all this White would probably be the betting choice if he were to clash with Saylor in another bout at the Triple A organization.

IF WHITE is successful in his encounter with Harvey he will probably take part in two more bouts at the Atlas Club this year. "Young" Saylor will be his opponent in one of these matches, if proper arrangements can be made.

Alex McLean says he would like to get the other bout for Gilbert Gallant. McLean is not satisfied with the result of the Gallant-Whitey Wallace tussle in which the Western youth scored a knockout. He claims that Gallant would go the distance and would have a fine chance to get the decision if he were to meet White again. He points to the fact that Gallant defeated Eddie Murphy, Sam Robideau and Frankie Callahan after having been beaten in his first encounter with each member of this trio of glove wielders.

JOE CHICK, the Gloucester boxer, will be in busy quarters tonight. He will exchange blows with "K. O." Sweeney of New York in a ten-round tussle at Albany.

ROUMANIA HOLDS KEY TO THE ORIENT

By HILAIRE BELLOC.

Foremost Military Writer of Europe.

The strategical analysis of the Bulgarian position is, in its first elements, an exceedingly simple matter.

Bulgaria holds a bridge. The Austro-German forces can reach Constantinople and their Turkish allies save with the aid of Bulgaria.

They could, if Roumania were willing, pass munitions into Turkey by railway. But it is very much more than the munitioning of Turkey which they are after.

They want a regular corridor through which they can communicate freely, passing troops in any number. The factory at Tophane outside Constantinople can manufacture enough shells to maintain the position in Gallipoli indefinitely and to prevent the opening of the Dardanelles.

What is chiefly wanted is the opportunity for prosecuting larger designs toward the South and East. The German Colonial Secretary has already spoken of an attack on Egypt, and of a thorough reorganization of the Turkish strength by a direct connection with Austro-Turkey. Bulgaria alone can furnish that direct connection.

I say that these first elements are obvious, but there are others almost as important.

NISH STRATEGIC POINT.

Note in the first place, the nature of the railway trajectory whereby communications once open can be maintained. With Nish, the old capital of Serbia in the hands of the Austro-Germans, the continuous line of Constantinople is in their power. Nor is it not only in their power. It is more defensible than any other on the great strategical lines upon which the present war has depended.

It so happens that neither in the east nor in the west has there been a strategic line essential to the prosecution of either party or one which is capable of permanent and prolonged defence. But in the case of this all-important international line from the heart of Bulgaria to Turkey-in-Europe and Constantinople, you have a geographical situation playing directly into the hands of the Austro-Germans.

For the line runs through a sort of natural corridor, defended by mountains to the north and to the south. From the point marked upon the sketch with the letter N, eastward through Philippopolis and Adrianople, the line everywhere follows one valley until Adrianople is reached, and beyond Adrianople there is no danger of its being severed.

The defences to the north of that natural corridor need not be considered until, or if, Roumania mobilizes.

Roumania shows no signs of mobilizing. For it is the chief interest of the Austro-German advance in the east during the last four months that the Balkan States are now, so far as vague general sentiment is concerned, converted to a belief in the ultimate victory of the Central Powers.

FORMIDABLE MOUNTAIN WALL.

South of this corridor and the two combined, and perhaps as many more, or nearly as many, as Serbia, Bulgaria and Greece combined, is Roumania.

Roumania has not moved, and she knows that she has profited in the past by not moving until the last moment.

NORTHERN BELGIUM SHAKEN BY THE HEAVY FIRE OF GERMAN GUNS

By International News Service.

HAVRE, Oct. 18.—Half of northwestern Belgium from the North Sea to the French boundary has rocked for twenty-four to forty-eight hours beneath an incessant bombardment of the British and French lines by the Germans.

The artillery fire of the Germans was particularly violent along the Yser near Dixmude, and at Ypres, where the mighty Krupps of the invaders hurled a hurricane of shells to sc ash the allies' redoubts.

An infantry attack was launched by the Germans against the Belgian position at "Death's highway" near Dixmude, but was repulsed despite the fact that the German guns had been carrying on a terrific bombardment of the Belgian lines for many hours.

Tells Police He Was Waylaid and Robbed

Andrew B. Fevere of Dexter avenue, Woburn, was according to his story the victim of a hold-up, waylaid and robbed of $262. Fevere says he attended a social gathering at the home of a friend, Sunday afternoon, and there were a man who was seeking funds with which to return to Europe. This man, Fevere claims, was one of three men who followed him from the house and after beating him took the money from his pockets.

Discharge Driver in Auto Death Case

Donald J. McGilvray of Woburn, an auto demonstrator, arraigned in the Woburn court today on a charge of manslaughter, was found not guilty. McGilvray operated a machine which on Sunday, October 3, killed Donald McDevitte, also of this city. McGilvray was also found not guilty on a charge of reckless driving.

He was fined $5 for operating a car without a license.

SKETCH SHOWING TEUTON ROAD TO CONSTANTINOPLE

the international line and maintaining the corridor unbroken would seem to be the only strategic chance open.

But the factor of time is heavily against the allies even in this, and even supposing they had at present forces sufficient to meet the five or six army corps which the auto-Germans can spare from the north and the eight or nine (or their equivalent) which Bulgaria can put into the field.

It is self-evident that long before help is actively present in northeastern Serbia the Bulgarian army, with its very great numerical superiority, will have begun its advance upon the international railway.

We may be confident that Bulgaria will not mobilize more than that normal maximum of one-tenth upon which any nation can count as its main effort in time of war.

In neither the first nor second Balkan war—when Bulgaria was certainly acting forth her very utmost endeavour—did she arm and ration 10 per cent. of her population.

ROUMANIA'S ENTRY VITAL.

That population has suffered heavily by the two great wars, and one may safely count on a force no greater than 250,000, even from prone Bulgaria, with its extended boundaries.

But that is formidable. Serbia cannot now put into the field more than two-thirds of such a force. Greece, with her newly extended boundaries, could mobilize more men than she did in the Balkan wars, were these trained, which they are not, or were the organization already expanded to meet the new population, which it is not.

The truth is that in all these steps there will always be one decisive last factor, which is the Roumanian army. Some in this country affect to despise that force because Roumanian civilization does not appeal to them.

I have no experience of this moral factor, but there have been on all sides of the excellent Roumanian military arrangements, and the factor of numbers is very striking.

Roumania can put into the field more men of this corridor and the two combined, and perhaps as many men, or nearly as many, as Serbia, Bulgaria and Greece combined.

Roumania has not moved, and she knows that she has profited in the past by not moving until the last moment.

TODAY'S STOCK MARKET

By W. H. ROSS, Financial Editor

Stocks were strong in the last hour, most of them being around their high for the day in New York. Studebaker advanced to a higher record price. United States Steel was more active and stronger. American Woolen has closed a contract with the Russian government aggregating $7,000,000 and said to be the largest of its kind ever awarded. War orders of this corporation are said to total $21,000,000. It is understood American Steel Foundries has received a $30,000,000 order from England. War order statements, in fact, had much to do with the strength of the market today.

Gains in New York at 2:15 included: Allis-Chalmers ¾, American Can ¾, Lackawanna Steel 1¼, U. S. Steel 1⅜, Car and Foundry 1¾, American Locomotive ¾, Baldwin 1, Bethlehem 2, Colorado Fuel 2, Crucible 1¾, General Electric 1¾, General Motors 3, Goodrich ¾, Maxwell 2, Mexican Petroleum 1⅜, Great Northern Ore ½, Republic Steel ¾, Studebaker 5¾, Westinghouse 1¾, Willys-Overland 1¾. Less than two-thirds of such a force. Greece, with her newly extended boundaries, could mobilize more men than she did in the Balkan wars, were these trained, which they are not, or were the organization already expanded to meet the new population, which it is not.

The truth is that in all these steps there will always be one decisive last factor, which is the Roumanian army. Some in this country affect to despise that force because Roumanian civilization does not appeal to them.

Brockton Man Leaps to Death Before Engine

BROCKTON, Oct. 18.—Clifford E. Hicker, forty, of No. 79 North Main street, foreman at the Brockton Box Toe factory, leaped in front of a moving freight train in the Brockton yards today and was killed.

Hicker was one of the best known shoe men in Brockton. Medical Examiner A. E. Paine said he believed it was a case of suicide. Charles Richardson, engineer of the train, said Hicker had been watching the switch engine and taking notes for two hours, and that he thought Hicker was a railroad detective, till he leaped from behind a freight car squarely in front of his engine.

ADVOCATE WAR LOAN TO THE ALLIES

Henry L. Higginson, of Lee, Higginson & Co., has given out a statement signed by prominent financiers and men of business throughout the country, advocating the loan to the allies.

The statement is headed: "What the Anglo-French loan means to the United States." It points out that where in ordinary times a more equable balance of trade makes it unnecessary to make large gold shipments from one side of the ocean to another country and Great Britain, the favorable trade balance here has resulted in an accumulation of gold in America's banks.

The loan is designed, according to this statement, to make unnecessary the accumulation of gold here by, in effect, selling the allies' goods on credit. The following points regarding the nature of the loan are emphasized:

1.—That not one dollar of the money loaned will leave our shores.

2.—That every dollar will go, directly or indirectly, to purchase American farmer, working man, merchant or manufacturer, in cash payment for foodstuffs, clothing, raw materials for and manufactured products that the Royal Family of England and France is estimated at 135 billion dollars—270 times the amount of this loan. The population of the two countries is almost 100 millions. The proposed loan is practically the only external obligation of the two nations; such a loan being, as it were, in fact a first claim upon the revenues and wealth of the nations issuing it.

The total internal debt of the two nations is considerably under twenty billion dollars, and is less than one year's income of the people of these two nations. This loan will increase their indebtedness 5 per cent.

"Having thus no question as to the fundamental and proper payment of the loan, we have each subscribed to it; believing, moreover, that every American citizen who participates in the loan will be contributing substantially to the commercial prosperity of the whole nation."

The statement is signed by the following:

Daniel Catlin, St. Louis; Joseph H. Choate, New York; Charles W. Eliot, Cambridge; Howard Elliott, Boston; Fairfax Harrison, Washington; Henry Higginson, Boston; James J. Hill, St. Paul; H. B. Ledyard, Detroit; Robert T. Lincoln, Washington; Franklin D. Locke, Buffalo; Seth Low, New York; E. B. Ripley, Chicago; Theodore N. Vail, Lyndonville, Vt., and Henry Walters, Baltimore.

Continued Search for Missing Hunter

WESTFIELD, Oct. 18.—A searching party went into the woods in the Montgomery district again today for Louis E. Stiles, 28, who has been missing since Saturday, when he started with his dog on a coon-hunting trip. A party, headed by Henry Stiles, father of the missing man, scoured the woods all day yesterday.

Annie Irish, Actress, Dead at New Bedford

Annie F. Irish, in private life Mrs. Harry Hall, well known to theatregoers of a generation or two ago as a prime favorite, died yesterday at St. Luke's Hospital, New Bedford. She was sixty-one years of age, and made her stage debut when nine years old with "Old Folks Concert," which toured New England with Gilmore. One daughter, Lottie Burke, now on the vaudeville circuit, survives. The funeral will be held at the family home in Onset.

OUR FIRST DUTY IS TO MAINTAIN PEACE; OUR NEXT DUTY IS TO PREPARE FOR WAR

The AMERICAN disapproves of a loan to prolong the war in Europe and is unwilling to accept any money for advertising such a loan. The AMERICAN does not, however, feel at liberty to deprive its readers of the statements of the proponents of the loan, whether in news text or in advertising. The AMERICAN therefore prints the advertisement of the loan, but contributes the money paid therefor to the Red Cross, in the hope of relieving some of the suffering and injury which a war loan will inevitably cause.

The Public Wants City Officials to Practice REAL Economy

THE Boston Finance Commission, if its charge of graft on the high-pressure service contract is correct, has again rendered distinguished service to the city of Boston and given further evidence that justifies its existence.

It is charged by the Finance Commission that the city let two miles of pipe be laid without competitive bids. The commission declares that the contractors charged the city for wages which they never paid and compelled the laborers to return to them from $1.50 to $3.50 a week. The commission denounces the failure of the city to advertise for competitive bids, as the law requires in nearly all cases, and points out that this very kind of a contract the commission has already warned the city against, and that the abuses which have arisen under it are the very abuses which the commission has previously declared inevitably arise under such kind of arrangements.

The commission concludes by saying that the city has not only been obliged to pay expenses which were never incurred for wages, BUT TO PAY A PROFIT OF 15% ON TOP OF EVEN THAT IMPROPER EXPENSE.

This is clearly a case for the District Attorney and is distinctly one which should not be paltered with by the law officers of the county. It is in saving money on work like this that an economical administration performs real service and renders real economy to the city. It is not real economy to discharge faithful employes or reduce the wages of nurses and teachers, or to allow the public parks and places of recreation to run down in the name of economy.

The AMERICAN suggests to Mayor Curley that he attend strictly to economy of THIS kind, and he will not find it necessary to propose again the sale of the Public Garden or to reduce the wages of janitors and nurses.

The Court-Martial of Rear Admiral Little

THE action of Secretary Daniels in ordering for trial Rear Admiral Little on account of the alleged neglect in an inspection of a submarine built at the Fore River shipbuilding works in Quincy is most praiseworthy. If the charge which Secretary Daniels makes against Rear Admiral Little proves to be true, his punishment ought to be as severe as the law will permit, and if there is evidence of a deliberate failure on the part of the Fore River Shipbuilding Company to live up to its contract the responsible persons should be prosecuted to the full limit of the law.

An American citizen who fails in his duty to make a warship of his country the best the specifications require is as much a traitor as was Benedict Arnold, and a far more dangerous one. This is equally true of those contractors and shipbuilders who deliberately cheat the government, if they do, in the character of the work which they put into shipbuilding and other armament supplies.

Russia's dismal disaster in the naval warfare with Japan shows the terrible penalty which is visited upon a nation whose unpatriotic people will fail in such vital duties. Such men should be punished as severely as the law permits and then should be punished by public opprobrium as Americans punished Benedict Arnold and the Tories of the Revolutionary War.

Workingmen, Vote for Woman Suffrage

Remember the Power of BIG NUMBERS

Copyright, 1915, by the Star Company.

TO make a great majority bigger is the thing to be desired. The fact that a little minority becomes a little bigger is nothing.

Workingmen of all kinds are a great majority in the nation. The other classes combined are a small but VERY powerful minority.

Give women the vote, AND YOU DOUBLE THE POWER OF THE WORKING POPULATION VOTE.

For every workingman, voting intelligently and conscientiously for the interest of the majority, votes for women would mean in the family of the married man, at the very lowest calculation, A DOUBLING OF THE WORKING CLASS VOTE.

Don't be deceived by what a selfishly interested man tells you, whether he be a politician who doesn't want to reckon with women, a gin-seller, or some gentleman who thinks that it is better, on the whole, to keep women ignorant.

Remember that workingmen have a standing BECAUSE THEIR VOTING NUMBER IS GREAT.

Giving the vote to women will MULTIPLY BY TWO the immense majority of the vast working class.

Your interest is to have an overwhelming majority, a gigantic mass of votes piled up in the interest of the majority of the people living in this republic. AND VOTES FOR WOMEN WILL GIVE YOU THAT GIGANTIC MAJORITY ON BEHALF OF THE MASSES OF THE PEOPLE.

Vote for woman suffrage this Fall.

JONES

BILL I EXPECT A MAN IN TO SEE ME ANY MINUTE. HE'S PRETTY SORE. YOU'RE A FINE TALKER. I WANT YOU TO SMOOTH HIM DOWN AND THEN CALL ME. I'LL BE IN THE NEXT ROOM.

—More Truth Than Poetry—

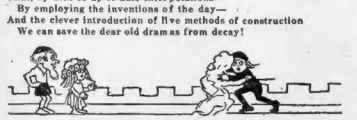
By James J. Montague

A Public Duty

LET us educate the public up to Shakespeare;
We can make his dull and dreary dramas go
If we liven up their action to the people's satisfaction
By the methods of the moving picture show.
We'll cut out the long and tedious conversations
And, to give to "Hamlet" just the proper dash,
Make the Ghost and Hamlet rassle till they both fall off the castle
And bump down upon the ocean with a splash!

WHEN King Henry's newest wife proves inconvenient
To the progress of his latest love affair,
To a biplane we'll attach her, where he'll presently dispatch her
With a broadsword as they hurtle through the air.
The pathetic touch of sadness at the parting
Of young Romeo and Juliet at dawn
Will seem infinitely sadder when her dad yanks out the ladder
And deposits the bold lover on the lawn!

WE'LL encamp the banished Duke of "As You Like It"
By the mighty old Missouri's yellow waves,
Where they'll have to have a battle to defend their lives and cattle
With a bloody bunch of scalp-collecting braves.
Thus, by dint of up-to-date interpolations—
By employing the inventions of the day—
And the clever introduction of five methods of construction
We can save the dear old dramas from decay!



A Commuter's Wail

I didn't raise my squash to be a cabbage,
I didn't raise my onions to be beans,
I didn't raise my carrots to be pumpkins,
I didn't raise the rhubarb to be greens.
But that's the way they turned out in the garden;
But when I start to plant it in Spring
I'll tell that seed store guy
I'll black his other eye
If where I plant a squash I pick a cabbage.

Flattery the Bread of Life, Says Dorothy Dix

"Affinities" Come in When Husbands and Wives Are Hungering for Admiration

By Dorothy Dix

THIS is the seventh commandment of matrimony:

Thou shalt not withhold the jolly, for flattery is even as a sweetmeat before marriage, but after marriage it is the bread of life.

The average married couple use up so much flattery on each other during the days of courtship that they have none left for the balance of their lives. They have exhausted their whole visible stock of compliments and they close up shop at the altar and never even try to manufacture another one.

This is why the domestic machinery creaks, and groans, and jolts along with so many jars. It needs lubricating with a lot of nice, smooth, oily speeches, and it cries to Heaven because of the stupidity of the man and woman who have not the sense to apply the grease where it will do the most good.

It's What They Say

It is enough to make you weep, when you stop to think of it, that the difference between a marriage that is a Heaven on earth and a marriage that is an earthly purgatory consists of only a few words—a little of that commodity commonly known as hot air. The thing that keeps us happy and satisfied in the holy estate, or that makes us miserable and discontented, is not what our husband or wife does to us, but what he or she says to us.

The poor man who marries is literally a slave to his family. He has neither time nor money to indulge himself in personal pleasures. He spends his life toiling that wife and children may be fed and clothed, and a roof kept above their heads.

Anathema is his lot if he goes home at night to a querulous and complaining wife, who whines over the things she cannot have, and that other women have, and berates him because he is not one of the men who are money makers.

But if he is married to a woman who makes him feel that he is a hero who stands between his family and want, who shows him daily her appreciation of the fineness of his uncomplaining labor and sacrifice, she makes life worth living for him, and glorifies his humble toil.

Undoubtedly most husbands and wives do admire each other. They must represent each other's tastes, or else they would never have married. They even think well of each other, because when they are apart the man boasts of his wife's management and cooking and the woman brags of her husband's good traits, but when they are together they would choke to death over a pretty speech to the ears to which a compliment would be sweeter than the music of the spheres.

The "Affinities"

Nine-tenths of the men who go out and hunt up affinities, and the women who find strange men who "understand" them, are husbands and wives who are simply starving for a little flattery that they never get at home and that they have been driven to seek elsewhere.

The wife considers it her conscientious duty to continually remind her husband of his faults and failings. She sees no reason for making a fuss over his success, she thinks that a man with a growing family is too old to care how he looks, and she no more dreams of handing him out a compliment than she does a dose of prussic acid.

But the man is human. He is vain, with an innocent desire to be appreciated at a little more than his true worth. He wants to shine in some woman's eyes, and because his wife doesn't take the trouble to flatter him he finds some other woman who does.

And the wife goes the same path. From the day she married him down to the present hour her husband has never once mentioned her looks to her, except to remark that she is getting fat. If she tries to corkscrew a compliment out of him by asking him if he thinks her new dress becoming, he merely grunts and says something about the fool things that women wear, and if he thinks she's smart or entertaining, or a clever financier, wild horses couldn't drag it out of him.

Hungering for Praise

So the woman goes hungering and thirsting for a little appreciation and a little admiration, and if she isn't as ugly as a mud fence she finds the man who feeds her up on soft talk—and the mischief is done.

It's always a safe bet that some other man or woman can be depended on to supply the flattery that is withheld at home, and so the only way for the man or woman who wants to keep wife or husband is to make the connubial brand of compliments of a double distilled strength and flavor, so that all other will seem weak and tasteless beside it.

Before marriage deal in soft talk or not, as you please, but after marriage follow religiously the seventh commandment of matrimony, which says: THOU SHALT NOT WITHHOLD THE JOLLY, FOR FLATTERY IS EVEN AS A SWEETMEAT BEFORE MARRIAGE, BUT AFTER MARRIAGE IT IS THE BREAD OF LIFE.

Invisible

By Jane McLean

THEY walked along the self-same road—
Two wanderers, one gloomy-eyed
With introspection's heavy load;
The other glimpsed a skyline wide,
The wavering ribbon of the way,
Bird wings against a flawless blue,
The woods aflame with colors gay
And fallen worlds to build anew.
"Come, cheer up, comrade!" said the one,
"The world has gifts for you and me."
"Yes, gifts," the other said, "hard won
With bitter thoughts for company."
